

NO ADVANTAGE GAINED BY GERMANS OR ALLIES IN NORTH FRANCE BATTLE

BERLIN AND PARIS REPORTS
AGREE TERRIFIC FIGHTING AT RIVER AISNE RE-MAINS VIRTUALLY A DRAW.

HOLD STRONG POSITION

Kaiser's Forces Reported To Be Well Fortified For Entire Battle Line of Over One Hundred Miles.

An official statement issued at Berlin says that the battle between the Oise and Meuse rivers, continues with sure indications that the allies are falling back. It is declared that the French attempts to cut through the German right wing, failed and a sortie from Verdun on the right bank of the Meuse was repulsed. The German army is said to be advancing slowly but surely. This statement evidently was issued late yesterday, as the substance of it was received in this country under date of September 17.

It was announced officially in Paris at three o'clock this afternoon, that the Allies had progressed somewhat. The western wing was declared to have repulsed a vigorous German offensive.

In proroguing parliament today King George said that he was compelled to go to war for the protection of the public law of Europe, and the vital interests of the empire, and that fighting for a worthy purpose Great Britain would not lay down her arms until that purpose had been fully achieved.

Austrian advices report that the Servians have evacuated Semlin, the town which they siezed when they began their invasion of Hungary.

Servian reports are to the effect that their successes continue. The Germans, successful in driving the Russian invaders from East Prussia, are reported pushing their way into Russian Poland. The Austrian army, following their disastrous clash with the Russians in Galicia, are believed to be attempting to reform at Cracow.

A dispatch from Cetinje says that the Montenegrans have been received with enthusiasm by the inhabitants of the Austrian province of Bosnia.

Paris, Sept. 18.—The allies have progressed somewhat on their western wing and are repulsing a vigorous German offensive movement, according to an official announcement made this afternoon by the French war department.

The battle continued during the day of September 17, along the front from the Oise to the Woerwaert without important changes in the situation at any point.

First—On our left wing on the Meuse, we have made slight progress against certain points. There are counter attacks undertaken by the Germans against the English, but they have been repulsed some very violent counter attacks executed during the night. The enemy tried in vain to take the offensive against Rheims.

Second—On the center from Rheims to the Argonne, the enemy has reinforced himself by constructing important fortifications and has adopted a purely defensive attitude. The east of the Argonne in the Woerwaert district the situation is unchanged.

On our right wing in Lorraine and the Vosges the enemy occupied positions on a defensive basis in the vicinity of the frontier.

Statement from Berlin. Berlin, September 18.—The Berlin Tageblatt prints the following in regard to the operations in the west: "We are standing the defensive on a hundred twenty-five mile battle line, and because we have been spoiled by a rapid series of rapid victories, many are unable to realize that a defensive under certain circumstances is as justified as an offensive. We have learned little concerning the situation, but we can point to some successes such as the repulse of the French night attack, and the fact that the French had succeeded neither in outflanking nor retreating right in breaking through the front.

The abandonment of our original position between Paris and Verdun for strategic reasons is in itself nothing momentous. In the days of battle and shifting positions, final results alone are important. So long as the battle continues undecided with the possibility of throwing in fresh troops drawing nearer, while the enemy had exhausted itself by repeated attacks, the German chances are better than those of the Anglo-French.

The following official statement has been given out by the headquarters of the German general staff. Oise and Meuse river battle continues, but there are sure indications that

GERMAN LOSS 44,000 IN PAST TWO WEEKS

AWFUL CARNAGE IN FRANCE IS INDICATED BY LONDON ESTIMATE.

REPORTS FROM SERBIA

Insist That Serbs Are Pushing Forward Victoriously Despite Rumored Capture of Semlin.

London, Sept. 18.—The German losses, are estimated here at 3,200 daily for the last fortnight. This total is more than 44,000 since Sept. 4. As the losses of the allies are known to have been tremendous, and adding the terrible losses suffered by the Austrians in Galicia, some idea may be gained of the extraordinary sacrifice of men during these first few weeks of the modern world's great war.

Report Serb Victories. No confirmation has been received here of the reported Serbian evacuation of Semlin or have the brief dispatches bringing this rumor told whether the Serbian retreatment was due to the strategic reason nor the result of the onslaught of the Austrians aided by the gunboats which are reported to have bombarded Semlin and Belgrade. All Serbian advices insist that the Serbs are continuing their vigorous forward movement. There was nothing today to indicate a change in the situation in the eastern zone. Presumably the armies of Austria are still relying to unite at Cracow, while the Russian army under General Rennenkampf is holding the Germans at bay along the frontier of Poland.

Italy's Position Doubtful. While public opinion and the press in Italy and Roumania are apparently still in the dark as to the course these nations will pursue, as the strategic situation is a somewhat cloudy one from Denmark today from the newspaper politicians says that country will remain firm in its neutrality.

All Available Reserves. German military authorities occupying the territory around Kallisz in Russian Poland have called to the colors all the German inhabitants there between the ages of 16 and 45. According to a dispatch to Reuters' Telegram company from Petrograd, the message adds that many Germans tried to escape. Some of them were captured and sent to the Russian authorities. It was stated, "Germans to Aid Austria."

Paris, Sept. 18.—It was announced at the Russian capital according to a dispatch to the Havas news agency that the German army was pushing its way into Russian Poland, the province of Russian Poland, upon learning of the Austrian defeat from Krasnik to the southward with the intention of rallying the routed army.

New York, Sept. 18.—Colonel Gole-Jeski, military attaché of the Russian embassy today gave out at the Russian consulate here, the following official dispatch which he said he had received from Petrograd: "Along the whole of the front, our pursuits of the Austrian rear guard is being successfully continued. We have taken Sandomir in Russian Poland, 51 miles southwest of Lodin. The strongly fortified bridgehead at Kroszeshow on the San river, was taken by a dashing feat of our leading battalion. Keeping the retreating enemy on the run, this battalion crossed the bridge close to the heels of the Austrians, and entering the town simultaneously with them, took possession of it."

Near Jaworow in Galicia, 30 miles east of Przemyśl, the German army corps over 30 guns, 5,000 prisoners and enormous artillery stores were taken. "In Eastern Prussia only unimportant skirmishing was reported."

MAKE FRANTIC EFFORTS TO FREE TWELVE ENTOMBED MINERS CAUGHT IN CAVE-IN

Eureka, Utah, Sept. 18.—Working in fifteen minute shifts, a hundred and fifty miners were laboring this afternoon to reach the remaining twelve miners buried in the Cave-in mine by a cave-in last night. The miners believed they are within fifty feet of where the men are, but the obstruction material is so soft it has to be timbered, as the work advances, and progress is slow. There is little hope of finding them alive.

CROWN PRINCE AS HE LOOKS TODAY

Crown Prince of Germany. This picture of the German crown prince was taken just before the outbreak of the war. Substitute a sword for the cane and you have a picture of him as he looks today.

CENSOR HOLDS SWAY OVER WIRELESS TOO

Attorney General Gregory Upholds Legality of Government Censorship of Wireless Messages.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Censorship of wireless messages by the federal government is legal, according to an opinion by Attorney General Gregory received today by Secretary Daniels. The attorney general gives several citations of law to back up the opinion, but his main contention is upon the right of the government to use every means at its command to preserve neutrality in war time. To preserve neutrality, the opinion says, the government has the right even to make use of the armed forces of the United States.

BURN AUSTRIAN FLAG IN A MILAN THEATRE

Futurist Leaders Are Arrested by Italian Authorities for Violating Neutrality Edict.

London, Sept. 18.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company to Milan says that Seniors Marinetti and Boccioni, well known futurist leaders, have been imprisoned for organizing an anti-Austrian demonstration, during which the Austrian flag was burned in one of the leading theaters of Milan.

KING GEORGE SIGNS HOME RULE MEASURE

Members of Parliament Sing "God Save the King" Following Prorogation Today.

London, Sept. 18 (12:25 p. m.).—King George's signature was today attached to the home rule bill. Parliament was prorogued until October 27. When the deputy speaker announced the formal prorogation, William Crooks, the labor leader, arose and asked if it was in order to sing "God Save the King." The anthem was sung, the members rising, after which all left the room.

JAP AIRSHIP BOMB HITS GERMAN SHIP

Men in Seaplanes Reconnoiter Kiou Chow Bay and Do Damage With Sky Projectiles.

Tokio, Sept. 18.—Vice Admiral Sadakichi Kato, commander of the second Japanese squadron is officially announced, reports that under the command of a reconnoiter Kiou Chow bay the day before, bombs were dropped toward the enemy's ships in the harbor, the wireless station and the electric motor house. A bomb was seen to strike a large ship.

JAPS MAKE PRESENT OF TEA TO RUSSIANS

English, French and Belgian Armies
Also Favored by Oriental Merchants.

Paris, Sept. 18.—Telegraphing from Petrograd a correspondent of the Havas agency says that Japanese tea merchants of the Russian capital have presented the Russian army with 100,000 pounds of tea. 200,000 pounds were given to the English and French armies and 20,000 to the Belgian armies.

STUDENTS WOULD LIFT BAN ON DANCES

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 18.—The lid harring the tango and hesitation waltz from campus dancing will be lifted if the co-eds at the University of California are permitted to have their way. A meeting of the senior women the following resolution governing the rules of dancing for the coming year was adopted: "Resolved, the progressive dancing be permitted at dances under the following conditions: First, that the order of dances on the program be supervised to include waltzes, hesitations and one-steps. Second, that the music be controlled in regard to orchestral selections. Third, that a paid censor or standing committee of censorship be provided by the students welfare committee."

Every Man Will Benefit

This coming revival of industry is no far away Utopia. It is directly important to every man, woman and child in this community.

It means better business and better living for every farmer, for every worker, for every merchant. It means better wages and more work. It means that the stores will sell more goods, for people will have more money to buy. Those who have vision to sense the coming prosperity are preparing right now. They are expanding, not contracting.

All Things Come to Those Who Go After Them.

ENVOY DISCUSSES PEACE PROSPECTS

GERMAN AMBASSADOR SAYS
SENTIMENT DEPENDS UPON ATTITUDE OF THE ALLIES.

QUOTES PREM. ASQUITH

Crushing and Dismembering of Germany Will Never Bring War to End He Says.

New York, Sept. 18.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, discussed today the prospect of peace in Europe and the efforts of President Wilson to bring it about. "Talk of peace was started by the people of the United States," said the ambassador. "It's continuance after the answer sent by the German government through Ambassador Gerard depends upon the attitude of the allies."

"As long as there is talk of crushing and dismembering Germany, there is absolutely no possibility of peace," he replied. "I am quoting Premier Asquith and other Englishmen. They have no idea that Germany could be crushed and dismembered."

Count Von Bernstorff said that if it was possible that peace in Europe might lead to general disarmament. "Then," he replied, "would depend upon the sentiment with which peace was entered by the allies."

Count Von Bernstorff said that undoubtedly the German emperor had been informed of the talk between Ambassador Gerard and the imperial German chancellor and that the answer given had been first submitted to the emperor. He added that it should be emphatically understood that from a military viewpoint Germany was not seeking peace at this time any more than before.

ORDER TURK NEWSPAPERS TO USE OLD NAME FOR CAPITAL OF RUSSIA

Paris, Sept. 18.—In a dispatch from Odessa, the correspondent of the Havas agency says that the government press bureau at Constantinople has forbidden the use of the word "Petrograd," the new authoritative name of St. Petersburg, and ordered Turkish newspapers to call the Russian capital St. Petersburg.

AMERICAN WHO FOUGHT WITH ALLIES RETURNS

New York, Sept. 18.—Paul Van De Velde of Dallas, Texas, for thirty-four years a lieutenant in the Belgian army and a veteran of the battles of Heelen, Houtonk, St. Margare, Tienton, and the fighting before Liege, returned home today on board the steamer Cretic. Mr. Van De Velde was visiting his parents in Belgium when the war started and he enlisted as a recruit.

SIX KILLED TODAY IN ALABAMA WRECK

Bloodhounds on Trail of Alleged Switch Tamperer Believed Responsible for Derailment.

Birmingham, Sept. 18.—In the belief that the switch had been tampered with, authorities have sent bloodhounds to Livingston, Ala., where six persons were killed and a seventh is missing as a result of the derailing of the Alabama Great Southern passenger train No. 2 early today. A strong effort will be made to trail the alleged wrecker.

Six persons were killed and fifteen injured today when passenger train No. 2 of the Alabama & Great Southern railroad was derailed at Livingston, Ala. All of the dead were passengers. The engineer was probably fatally injured. The engine was derailed at the switch and crashed into a gondola on the side track. The mail and baggage cars, two coaches and three sleepers were derailed. Three other sleepers remained on the track. Three of the sleepers left New Orleans at 7:30 o'clock last night, attached to a New Orleans and Northeastern train and bound respectively for New York, Cincinnati and Birmingham.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY NETS THUGS $60,000

Wealthy Kankakee, Ill., Woman
Forced to Open Safe for Thieves Escape in Automobile.

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 18.—Diamonds and other jewelry valued at $60,000 were obtained early today by five masked robbers, at the home here of Mrs. Nellie Clark. The robbers in an automobile, forced entrance to the house, cut the telephone wires, and compelled Mrs. Clark to open the safe where she kept her valuables. They then bound her and Marguerite Miller, a companion of Mrs. Clark's, and drove away.

When Mrs. Clark succeeded in freeing herself from her bonds, she tried to telephone the police, only to discover that the connection had been severed. Her chauffeur in an automobile followed the robbers to the outskirts of Moneague, where they abandoned their machine overturned in a corn field.

HARMONY IS HOPE OF ILLINOIS G. O. P.

Former Governor Deneen Appears to Be in Control in Convention at Peoria.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 18.—Elimination of any friction between opposing factions was the chief concern among republicans at the convention today. Senator L. V. Sherman, former Governor Deneen, Roy West, chairman of the state central committee, and Wm. B. McKinley arrived last night and preliminary plans for the opening of the convention were drawn up. Predictions last night and early today pointed to former Governor Deneen as the dominating influence in the earlier session of the convention. It was believed he would be chosen for a temporary chairman.

HOMESTEAD TRACTS ARE TO BE OPENED

Territory in Washington, California,
New Mexico and Colorado to be Thrown Open.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Announcement was made at the interior department today that Secretary Lane had signed orders opening to settlement and entry under the enlarged homestead act, approximately 3,600 acres of land in California, New Mexico, Colorado and Washington.

BOATS IN COLLISION IN FOG NEAR QUEBEC

COLLIER RAMS AND SINKS GOV-ERNMENT STEAMER EARLY
TODAY ON ST. LAWRENCE.

FOURTEEN LIVES LOST

Women and Children of Lighthouse-keepers Are Among Persons Drowned in Accident.

Quebec, Sept. 18.—The Black Diamond collier Lengan rammed and sank the government steamer Montmagny this morning during a fog at Beaujeu banks, below Crane island in the St. Lawrence river, twenty-six miles from Quebec.

Fourteen persons, members of the Montmagny's crew and families of lighthouse-keepers, who were aboard the Montmagny, also lost their lives. The second officer, Lachance, of the Montmagny, was among those who perished. He died with two children in his arms, in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue them. Mrs. Lavallee, wife of the lighthouse-keeper at Flower island, and her four children were lost.

Mrs. Richards, wife of a lighthouse-keeper at Belle Isle, and her seven children were aboard the Montmagny. How many of them were saved was not known this morning. Survivors were picked up by the steam collier Potana, and were taken to Grosse Isle. The government boat Alice was ordered to bring them from Grosse Isle to Quebec.

GETS $1,000 YEARLY FROM LARGE ESTATE

Son of Wealthy La Crosse Wholesale Grocer Cut Off by Father Who Estranged Him.

La Crosse, Sept. 18.—In the will of the late James J. Hogan, wealthy wholesale grocer, who died in Wauwatosa sanitarium recently, filed today, one son, John Hogan, will receive not to exceed 1,000 a year. The executives are permitted to spend that much for necessary expenses. Mr. Hogan has been estranged from his son. The widow receives the homestead and $5,000 a year. The balance after minor request is divided between one son, James, and two daughters, Misses Lucy and Gertrude. The estate is valued at $500,000.

WILSON WILL MEET COLORADO COALMEN

Immediately Wires Operators Time for Audience to Discuss Strike Settlement Plans.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The Colorado coal operators today asked President Wilson to receive them next Wednesday to discuss the tentative basis for the settlement of the strike already accepted by the miners. The president immediately wired his consent.

WASHINGTON WATERWAYS CONVENTION ADJOURNS.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 18.—After an enthusiastic session of two days, the fall meeting of the Columbia and Snake River Waterways association adjourned here today. Many prominent men addressed the association urging that the northwest waterways be developed. They declared that the region would be benefited greatly by the opening of the upper Columbia and Snake rivers to navigation and hydro-electric development.

OREGON EUGENICS LAW IS HARD BLOW TO CUPID

Salem, Ore., Sept. 18.—According to a report issued today by the state board of health, the Oregon eugenics law "lashed to the mast." There were more than 1,000 fewer marriages in 1913 than in the previous year, the report shows. To avoid the law which requires men to furnish a certificate of health before a marriage license will be issued, hundreds of young couples go to the neighboring states to have the nuptial knot tied.

300 CONVENTIONS CONVENE DURING THE FRISCO FAIR

San Francisco, Sept. 18.—More than 300 conventions will be held in San Francisco during the life of the Panama Exposition. Of this number more than forty will deal with the products and problems of the soil and many of them are of an international nature, like the World Congress of Grape-growers, which will have present representatives from more than twenty foreign countries.

DAHLIA SOCIETY WILL STANDARDIZE VARIETIES.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 18.—Having for its purpose the standardizing and making official the naming of dahlia varieties in the United States, the convention of the National Dahlia Society convened here today for a two day session, with several thousand delegates in attendance.

GARDENING WORK IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Salem, Ore., Sept. 18.—The school children of the state are today taking greater interest in agricultural pursuits than ever before as a result of the department of education's instruction with practical demonstration work in gardening. State superintendent of schools Churchill contends that if every school child in the state is made familiar with gardening from a practical standpoint, the production of poultry, eggs and vegetables will be materially increased with a resultant decrease in the cost of living.

Photo shows a heliographer, a member of the famous "Death's Head" regiment, commanded by the German Crown Prince, communicating dispatches to the regiment on the field of action.

Women's Fall Boots
All the chic new styles ready now; $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00

DJ LUBY

Are You Ready

for the cool, chilly weather that fall brings? We are prepared to serve you—our shelves are filled with splendid new merchandise. Buy of us and save money.
Men's New Fall Hats.
Sweater Coats.
Underwear for all.
Hosiery.
Flannel Shirts.
Dress Shirts.
Work Shirts.
Men's Trousers.
Men's Coats.
Men's Dress Gowns.
Railroad Gloves.
Warm Leather Gloves or Mittens.
Cloth Gloves or Mittens.
Yarn Mittens and Gloves.
Outing Flannel Night Gowns.
Menslin Night Gowns.
Undershirts.
Outing Flannels.
Curtain Draperies.
Bed Blankets.
Comforters.
Men's and Boys' Caps.
Auto Hoods and Toggles.
Overalls and Jackets.
Suspenders and Hose Supporters.
Men's Neckwear.
Umbrellas.
Dinner Sets.
Fancy China.
Toys.
Our stock was never more complete and best of all—we have not advanced our price—even though there is a strong tendency toward higher prices on many lines of merchandise. Let us serve you.

HALL & HUEBEL
105 W. Milwaukee St.

Highest Prices Paid For Grain.

We are paying the highest market prices for Grain of all kinds. If you will bring us your samples we will be glad to quote prices.

H. P. RATZLOW & CO.
TIFFANY, WIS.

Rogers Ready Mixed Paints Are Good All-Round Paints

For exterior and interior use. Put up in quart, half-gallon and gallon cans. The paints are absolutely guaranteed. And prices are 25% lower than any other brand of ready mixed paints on the market.

One quart cans, 45c.
Half-gallon cans, 85c.
Gallon cans, $1.50.
Get your paints here and save money.

Hinterschied's
TWO STORES
221-23 W. Milw. St.

Open from 5 A. M. to 8 P. M.
Sunday from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M.

At Safady's Lunch Counter

5c will buy the best and largest Hamburger in the city.
The best meat obtainable for Hamburger is used in the making of our sandwiches.
You will highly appreciate a cup of our good coffee which is always fresh.
Corner Wall and Academy Sts.

Your feet would ache if you walked from house to house of all real estate concerns in looking for the places where there are rooms for rent. A few minutes study of the Gazette Want Ads will give you a list of the most desirable places.

BAPTIST CHURCH DAY HELD LAST EVENING

THREE HUNDRED, ENJOY ANNUAL BANQUET AND HEAR CHURCH REPORTS.

DR. M'LAURIN SPEAKS

Madison Pastor Urges Loyalty to Christian Ideals Avoiding Modern Fads and Fancies.

Over three hundred attended the annual "Church Day" celebration held at the First Baptist church last evening, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, transaction of church business and a memorable dinner of the seventh year of Rev. Joseph C. Hazen's pastorate in this city. The address of the evening was given by Rev. Donald H. M'Lauren, pastor of the First Baptist church at Madison, who spoke on the "Ideals of the Church."
An elaborate banquet was served by the ladies' societies, during which the church orchestra, led by Mrs. J. C. Nichols, furnished music. Rev. Hazen was elected moderator for the evening and business relating to the church was passed upon. Rev. Donald M'Lauren introduced to the audience a half hour's speech that brimmed with seriousness and thought, carrying a message that deeply imbedded itself through efforts of delivery into the minds of the present.
"I claim a relation to the Baptist church of this city," opened the speaker, and in explanation he told of his acquaintance with Rev. and Mrs. Hazen, and Rev. Richard Vaughn, former pastor. "Life is the most serious thing on earth," continued Dr. M'Lauren, "and the church is the most serious problem in the world. We all at some time have ideals in our lives, an ideal that we can see in the future, something that we look forward to with expectation of achieving. We, as a race, have ideals as well as individuals. The church furnishes these ideals, for Christ, the ideal of every man, lived a noble, righteous life, Christ himself is the ideal."
"Multitudes of people and many churches fail to see the real ideal. We often see business men, who run their minds to a church, transacting business without a prayer, without attempting to communicate with God who rules over all problems. God is the major partner of the church. I believe that Jesus Christ is alive and lives where he is allowed to live. His influence should reign over every part of this church, business or social."
"The church is like the sun, which with its radiant beams of glorious light puts out of commission all other things—the minor lights. Christ is the thing. The twinkling stars of the heavens may be likened to the little things of the church and become flooded by the light of God when His glory and power is allowed to enter and submerge the insignificant affairs."
"Do not chide your ideal. The tendency of today is to cheapen the church by resorting to modernism in the pulpit, the pastor seeking to enlarge congregations by using the pulpit to discuss modern fads, review state novels and modern errors in perspective of the Bible. The church is commissioned with the mightiest task of the day, to get men to obey God. To modernize and cheapen the church's ideal is to impact the church in this duty. To build up men is a task, which Christ intended the church to perform, the institution has to be free from side issues to allow the real purpose to flood the light over the church, vanishing the cheaper things as the stars give way to the day's sunshine.
"The church is all. Let the church's ideal find every region of the church, let every man feel its power and pressure and we will have an Utopian place. Men will not have a spot on them. We may be stained, but Christ cleanses our bodies and the church cleanses our souls up to the congregation and friends of the church to keep such an ideal in response to the glorious word of God."
"What happens if you lose the ideal, allow it to become vague in the distance and to finally vanish? You lose enthusiasm, the white heat that controls and invigorates the spirit of the church. Preachers lose fire—the dusty roads are full of these kind. The church is stalled like an exhausted motor for they have slipped into a rut when they lose sight of their ideal mission."
"You lose hope if the ideal is gone, for you do not address your task with the right and winning spirit. Finally and lastly the joy of the Lord, the strength of salvation is lost. God gives us power to reach the ideal and if the loss sight of it, the joy of living becomes resigned. Addressing you as a church, keep your ideals in paramount importance and you will succeed as God intended you should."
Miss Evelyn Welsh gave an interesting reading of "The Slow Man" and the orchestra responded with several selections.
The election of officers selected by a nominating committee reported by Miss Mary Barker was as follows:
Trustees—A. S. Krotz, for one year; Fred C. Burpee and E. C. Bailey, two years.
Committee on Poor—Mrs. N. Dearborn and Mrs. Eliza Smith.
Committee on Benevolence Retained—K. W. Shipman, Miss Stoddard, Mrs. Catchpole, Mrs. E. W. Currier, Mrs. William Morris, E. W. Currier, Fred Scarcliff, A. G. Anderson, with Roy Eller, chairman and treasurer.
Flower Committee—Messdames S. B. Smith, T. S. Nolan, M. O. Mout and F. C. Burpee.
Supervisors of Sunday School—J. O. Hanchett, assistants, Dr. Shipman, A. S. Krotz and Miss Mary Barker. George Campbell, secretary and treasurer.
Committee—J. A. Whit, Mrs. M. S. Jones, Mrs. G. A. Crossman, Mrs. C. D. Child, Fred Scarcliff, E. W. Currier.
Committees on Relief of Poor—Messdames G. Catchpole, C. H. Eller, I. A. Whiffen, George Osgood and C. F. Lester.
J. T. Fitchett was elected church clerk.
J. C. Hanchett, was named as head usher with assistants E. W. Currier, E. R. Jones and Fred Scarcliff. Roy Eller, E. C. Jones, L. K. Crissey and K. Catchpole as assistants.
Mrs. John Cunningham spoke to the members of a pleasant visit to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Richard Vaughn, former pastor at the First Baptist church of Janesville.
The reports were given by the following people:
The Church—The record, J. Fitchett; treasury, Mrs. Clinton; benevolence, Roy Eller; trustees, S. G. Dunwiddie; nominees, Miss Mary Barker.
The Societies—The Missionary, Mrs. Dunwiddie; Ladies' Aid, Mrs. Foster; King's Daughters, Mrs. Burdick; Christian Endeavor, A. S. Krotz; Sunday School, A. C. Campbell; Men's Club, D. A. Antisdel.
Address—Rev. Donald H. M'Lauren, D. D., the First Baptist church, Madison.

DEMAND INCREASES FOR LABOR IN STATE

Decrease of Industrial Activity Causes Number of Applications for Work in State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—The activity of industrial establishments has not increased during the past month, according to the reports of the Wisconsin public employment offices. The totals of the four offices show that only 1,796 employers of labor made request for help, as compared with 2,171 in July. The total number of employees wanted during August was 2,352, a reduction of 30 per cent from the number in July, and but a little more than one-half as many as were requested during August, 1913. There were about 144 applications for every 100 jobs offered by employers. During August, 1913, there were more jobs open than there were applicants for them. Notwithstanding this slackness of number of Wisconsin public employment offices were able to secure positions for 2,242 job seekers, 1,687 men and 555 women. An applicant was referred to every job reported open by employers, and 80 per cent of every 100 referred secured positions.
The decrease in the number of help wanted during August was due chiefly to the decrease of activity in the building trades and in the decrease of demand for farm hands. More than twice as many of the latter were asked for by farmers during July than in August. There was also a decrease in the number of general laborers wanted and in short jobs.
The proportion of the number of women asking for work continues to be high. In August over 50 per cent of all the applicants were women; in August, 1913, seven times as many men as women applied for work.

JURY IS DRAWN FOR APPRAISING PROPERTY

City is Forced To Condemn Krueger Property For Extension Work on South Third Street.

A jury of twelve men was drawn by Judge C. L. Field, in the county court this morning to appraise the value of the Krueger property on Elm street for the proposed extension of South Third street as ordered by the city council. As one half of the property cannot be located the condemnation proceedings are legally necessary to fix the price which the city will pay for the property.
This morning the jury composed of the following men, H. J. Cunningham, A. W. Hall, George Turk, W. E. Conrad, Harry Kaylor, W. H. Blair, Albert Schaller, A. C. Thorpe, William Zull, George Haathorne, W. O. Newhouse and Charles Tallman went to the Krueger property for the purpose of setting a price. The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday morning of the coming week, when further evidence, including testimony, will be taken before the jury. The city has purchased the Plowright property which adjoins the Krueger estate.

BEATON TO TALK ON WAR SUNDAY MORNING

Former Congregational Pastor of This City Will Discuss European Situation at Baptist Church.

Rev. David Beaton, D. D., former pastor of the First Congregational church in this city, is to be the speaker Sunday morning at the First Baptist church. His sermon will be on the topic, "The War Situation in Europe," and promises to be a real treat. Dr. Beaton is well versed with the conditions going on in Europe at the present time, and should be of interest to many in the city. He is on a visit in the east, his present residence being at Oakland, California.

CORRECTION.

Through a clerical error "THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY," advertised in last night's issue at the Majestic and Lyric Theatres for tonight, should have read for Thursday night.

AVALON

Avalon, Sept. 18.—Miss Mabel Benne of Dundee, Ill., is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. A. Reid.
Prof. A. J. Boynton, Roy and Rodney Boynton, spent last Wednesday in Madison.
Miss Arnold has thirty-seven pupils enrolled for this year.
Archibald Clifton of Dundee, Ill., was a weekend guest of his sister, Miss Betha Clifton, at C. S. Boynton's.
Wm. Reid will remodel their house this fall.
Mrs. E. H. Ransom and Mrs. Decker of Janesville, were the guests Thursday of the former's daughter, Mrs. L. Collins.
Mrs. Jennie Conley was called on a case in Clinton Friday.

TRAIN SCHEDULE RESUMED ON MINERAL POINT LINE

Trains on the Mineral Point division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway are now running on schedule time after the disastrous floods and washouts of Monday.

---AND HE DID

I SEE THEY ARE SELLING CIGARS FOR FIVE CENTS, TOMORROW. I'LL TRY SOME!

AND HE DID.

"BUY COTTON" MOVE SPREADS IN NORTH TO DIVERT CRISIS

"Buy a Bale" Idea Not Yet Agitated in Janesville, But Spreading Fast in This Section.

Inquiry among local firms, business houses and banks has failed to bring to light any agitation in the "Buy a Bale of Cotton" movement now spreading throughout the north to avert the cotton crisis in the south, consequent on the demoralized condition of the market at the cutting off of the European demand for the premier product of our southern states.
Many persons are sanguine regarding the movement. Others are optimistic and a few take a view of pessimism.
The response of business interests and lenders of other cities to this section of the country in the "Buy a Bale" idea has been a revelation to the originators of the scheme who to all appearances have only the honest idea of saving the cotton from desperate straits when the cotton market again resumes normal conditions. The issue has arisen suddenly and is new in all parts of the country. It is only this week that it has been agitated in most of the states.
The proportions of the business crisis, which would be portended if this situation went uncorrected, may be better appreciated in the fact that the value of a good crop of cotton rises to nearly a billion dollars. It exceeds any one single land product in any land of the globe, with the exception of corn, in America, which is produced by three or three and a half states. The cotton crop is distributed as the resources of the poorest farmer as well as those more fortunate, so that it strikes at the welfare and livelihood of the nation, what anything goes wrong with that market.
It costs a good deal to raise a crop. A large part of the cost of raising it is advanced to the cotton farmers before the crop is matured. The loss of either that crop or poverty prices in the market, which brings a total failure, is a business concern of the entire nation, from the disastrous effects of which none can escape. Hence the heroic methods now being employed over the entire United States to rescue the situation.
The investment may or may not prove a source of profit, but the growth in the south are in desperate straits and all business is paralyzed. The European market took 60 per cent of the American crop, but this has fallen off greatly. With the mills closed the trade for a year or more, French mills making but few calculations, while those of England will need only half their usual supply, the market is which none can escape. Hence the heroic methods now being employed over the entire United States to rescue the situation.
One measure of relief which is being brought to the front takes the form of a general public movement in the north to establish "Buy a Bale of Cotton" clubs. This is made up of individuals and firms and companies who are willing to provide for the purchase of a bale of cotton and have it held in the hands of the rights itself which may be some time next season. This is done on the basis of 10 cents a pound, or $50 a bale. It costs $2 a bale additional to provide warehouse and insurance, which is given security to the property. The cotton is thus held out of the market till normal conditions return. In this way it is hoped to take enough cotton off the market so that the rest can be disposed of in the course of the season at a normal price. The financial risk on cotton at $50 a bale is inconsiderable. The grower who sells under these conditions pledges to curtail his cotton acreage next season by half. This presumes that the bale of cotton will advance 20 per cent within a year. It is done on a business basis. Among those who have bought a bale of cotton is President Wilson.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, Sept. 18.—Word from George Leng, who has been in the Janesville hospital since being injured by being impaled on a pitchfork, is to the effect that he is getting along nicely.
Mr. and Mrs. M. Donahue and Mrs. Edward Grenewalt and little daughter, spent Thursday in Janesville.
Mrs. Slothoven and son Earl and Harry Slothoven, of the Warren Thursday evening to attend the fair.
Mr. and Mrs. Hyland Sutherland and three children of Berlin, Wis., are here for a fortnight's visit with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. Sutherland and other relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cane of Harvard, former residents of Brodhead, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Gardner.
Miss Marjorie Roderick left Wednesday for Milwaukee where she has arranged to attend Downer College.
The city council has had installed four electric lights for the guidance of the fire company when a fire alarm is turned in.
Mr. and Mrs. John Egner are enjoying a visit from their son and daughters, Rev. C. Egner of Ethan, South Dakota, Mrs. Gettie Houser of Topeka, Kans., and Mrs. Jennie Hugenroth of West, Phoebe, Kansas. Rev. Egner will preach in the M. E. church Sunday morning.
Sidney Graham has been on the sick list for about two weeks.
Dr. Roy Karney of Burlington, Ia., has been Brodhead and he has been interested to learn that he has been elected vice-president of the medical staff and board of directors of the Burlington, Ia., hospital, and also is a member of a board of directors of the Mercy Hospital in that city. Roy is getting toward the top in his profession.

ABE MARTIN

speaking of harness records, Tilford Moots an "wife" I'll celebrate the golden wedding tomorrow. O' course things are never the same when father is young, but it's when mother lays off that the home goes 't' the dogs.

If you are looking for help of any kind, read the Want Ads.

CHARLES P. WISCH DIES THIS MORNING

Son of Charles W. Wisch Expires After Lingering Illness at Age of 39—Funeral on Sunday.

The demise of Charles Perry Wisch, son of Charles W. Wisch, barber of this city, occurred early this morning at the family residence, 203 North Bluff street, after a lingering illness.
The deceased was born in Evansville in 1875, coming direct to this city with his family where he has ever since resided. He was a barber by trade, but owing to ill-health, was forced to give up his position. Death came at the early age of 39.
In 1897 he was united in marriage to Miss Edith Dick of Dayton, Wis., who with a daughter, Helen, he leaves to mourn his loss. Also, a sister, Mrs. Alice Johnson of Chicago and a father, Charles W. Wisch, survive him.
During his long illness he manifested an example of Christian courage and patience, always having a cheerful word for the many friends who called on him, and for those who ministered to his wants. He was a member of the Trinity church in this city, and also of the Mystic Workers' lodge. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at the Trinity Episcopal church at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. Henry Willmann officiating.

WINS GREAT GLORY ON BLOODY FIELD

General Sir Philip W. Chetwode.

In a recent official statement Lord Kitchener praised General Sir Philip W. Chetwode, whose brigade "fought a brilliant action with the German cavalry, in the course of which they routed the enemy and speared large numbers in flight."

General Chetwode served in the Chit Hills expedition, Burmah, 1892-1893, and won distinction in the South African war. He was born in September, 1869.

To Prevent Hail.

France is now testing a new type of hail destroyer. The device is essentially a very large lightning rod of pure copper, grounded by means of a copper conductor. Accordingly to the theory of the inventors, these instruments, by their effect upon currents of atmospheric electricity, are capable of preventing the formation and the fall of hailstones.

Attuned to Higher Things.

"What's the matter with the elevator?" asked the nervous man. "You keep trying to run it through the roof." "You'll have to excuse me," replied the operator, "I'm not used to one of these little 20-story buildings."

War Atlas—Cut the coupon from today's paper and bring it into the Gazette office with 17c, or by mail 15c.

LARGE WILLOW DOLL BUGGIES

The little girl will be more than pleased with one of our large red buggies for her dolls. They are made strong and durable and are exact duplicates of the larger baby buggies. The handle is secured firmly to the running gear instead of screwed to body. The bodies and tops are extra large and will hold a 24-inch doll, some are rolled edged. Tops are large and of red and are adjustable. Not made cheap but our prices are cheap.
$4.00 to $6.00.

NICHOLS STORE

The store that saves you money.

HOWARD'S

THE BEST FOR THE LEAST

Just received NEW NOVELTY BRAIDS ..... 7c to 20c
Also LINEN DRESSER SCARFS at ..... 50c to $1.75
BLACK VELVETEEN at ..... 50c, 65c, $1.00
BLACK AND COLORED SILK VELVET ..... $1.00, $1.25
NEW WAISTS, just received, $1.00, $1.35, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.25.
A large assortment of TABLE DAMASK, 50c, 59c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25.
New goods of all descriptions being received daily.
THE ONE PRICE CASH STORE.

Eye Sight is Priceless

Bring your school children and have their eyes examined by our eye expert, no charge for examination. Many dull scholars are made bright and smart by a pair of correctly fitted glasses. We sell only the best prescription lenses, at popular prices.

GEORGE C. OLIN
19 W. Milw. St.

Specialist in Examination of Eyes and Fitting of Glasses. Crossed Eyes Straightened by Prismatic and Muscular Exercises.
No case too difficult for me to refect. Bring your children to me. No drugs.
JOSEPH H. SCHOLLER OPTOMETRIST.
Office Badger Drug Co.

New Gift Ideas in Jewelry

G. E. FATZINGER, The little store around the corner, next to the P. O.

ALARM CLOCKS

All sizes; Baby Ben and Big Ben, also intermediate sizes. $1 to $2.50 will waken you every morning on time.

J. J. SMITH MASTER WATCHMAKER
313 W. Milwaukee St.

WHAT ABOUT A TENT FOR THAT SHOOTING TRIP?

Have you outfitted yet? We have all sizes of tents which we will rent at reasonable prices. Be sure and see us before you go.

American Sporting Goods Co.
Bell phone 1408. 609 Pleasant St.

"A + 5 + O + 1 + 500 + 4 + 100 + E + 1 + 50 + 50 + 1000 + O + 5 + E + 1 + 1000 + 1000 + E + 50 + 1 + 8 + 50 + Y."

What is the young man saying to the policeman?

MRS. WALKER

announces her first display of

CORRECT MILLINERY

for Autumn and Winter, on Friday and Saturday

September 18, 19.

Simpson's

GARMENT STORE

READ GAZETTE WANT ADS

PETEY ABROAD—IT LOOKS AS THOUGH THIS HORSE W ON'T SHUT.

By C. A. VOIGHT

SPORTS

NOTRE DAME COACH HAS BRIGHT HOPES OF STRONG ELEVEN

Veterans of Last Year's Championship Team Back for Hardest Schedule Catholics Ever Attempted.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 18.—"Despite the loss of Dorais, Rockne and Freney from our last year's championship eleven, we expect to have just as strong a team this year, and if possible, a stronger one," was the statement of Coach Jesse Harper today, when asked as to the chances of the Notre Dame football team this fall. Despite his optimistic statement, however, it is known that the N. D. men are just a little bit worried over the loss of the three stars of last year's team, and the cause of most of this worry is the fact that he has lost "Gus" Dorais, one of the best quarterbacks ever developed in the west and a man who was considered the peer of any in the country in passing the pigskin from a forward pass formation. "Dorais" graduated last June. Since it was the forward pass and Dorais' brilliant execution thereof that were the greatest ground-grainers for the gold and blue last fall, it is plain to be seen that Harper would like to have even a pocket edition of the wonderful little field general put in an appearance on Carter field this fall and fill Gus' shoes.

The schedule of the Notre Dame eleven this fall is the stiffest ever arranged for the gold and blue warriors. In addition to tackling Yale at New Haven, they take on the Carlisle Indians at Chicago, Syracuse at Syracuse and South Dakota on the latter's stamping grounds. The Haskell Indians and one of two minor teams will be met. But Harper is desirous of making his best showing against Carlisle and Yale. The latter gave Notre Dame a date, but an exceedingly early one, and the boss strategist of the local forces is having a hard time getting his men lined up for the early start on the eastern invasion. The Braves under Glenn Warner always are strong enough to battle any college eleven from "Frisco" to New Haven and doubt if they will be any less so in their clash with Notre Dame comes later on in the season and gives Harper a chance to mobilize his forces properly.

While the loss of Rockne will also be serious to the 1913 captain was accredited all-American material, still Harper thinks he has a worthy successor to the Chicago Pole in Charley Bachmann, the best all-around athlete in school. Bachmann is a powerful forward, a keen football sense and can play almost any position in creditable N. D. manner. Harper is depending upon him to take "Rock's" place at the right, extreme end of the line and Bachmann should prove equal to the emergency. None of the crack back field men were lost except Dorais. Finnegan, Dugan, the Greenwood (Ind.) boy, Herman Piska and Eichenlaub, the ground-grainers left from last year's title holders. From among that number Harper must develop a quarterback and from present appearances he has to select from the line and Finnegan and Bergman. The former is a larger man than "Bergie," but lacks the speed of the N. D. flyer, by which title Bergman is known hereabouts. Bergman man possesses the football brain and could use it to advantage from the pivotal position. It is thought that Harper is depending greatly on his forward pass plays this year, as is evident from the fact that he sent a new football to both Finnegan and Bergman and gave each man specific instructions to "go out and practice throwing the ball."

Al Freney, the crack Indianapolis player of the 1911 team, has played his last game for Notre Dame and in his place this fall will probably be seen Fitzgerald, the largest man on the squad. "Pitz" played guard last fall and was rated one of the toughest men on the entire line. The remainder of last year's line will be back, including Gushurst, regular end of the 1913 team. "Gus" was to have graduated, but was fanned at the last moment and will be back this year, eligible for the team.

Captain Jones, rated by every Notre Damer as sure all-American talent last year, but who was not even mentioned for all-american honors except by Walter Eckersall, had several of his men in training at Cedar Point, O., and brought them on to report to Coach Harper on the 9th. Eichenlaub, the best fullback in Notre Dame's history, was the exception of Salmon, was with Jones and the latter reports "he" in great trim for a grueling season. Jones will appear in his old position at tackle, teaming it with Leary, who will be seen in his old tackle position.

One of the backfield men from last year's team will lose his job this season. This is an assured fact, according to Coach Harper, the latter has a young Cornish at Cleveland last, one of the finest football specimens that ever decorated a gridiron. Standing six feet and weighing close to 180, Cornish is a powerful, smashing halfback, as good if not better than any of the backfield men in the west today, according to Harper. Cornish was a power on the freshmen eleven last year and is absolutely assured of a place on the varsity this fall. In addition to his sterling worth as an offensive man, Cornish is also a brilliant performer on the defense and can punt with the best of them. In fact, Harper is relying upon him to do all the booting for the gold and blue this fall. The Notre Dame coach was also highly elated the other day over news from Minneapolis to the effect that

BUT FIVE VETERANS AT BELOIT COLLEGE

Edler, Johnson, Ward, Gharitty and Tracy Are The Only Old Men Left For Eleven This Fall.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Beloit, Wis., Sept. 18.—Coach Evans, prominent mentor at Beloit college, is having a difficult time this fall finding football material, to fill the shoes of the many veterans lost by graduation last June. Chances at present at the Line City institution for a championship eleven are all but bright.

The Gold team have but five vets with which to build out a winning aggregation, while practically every team on the Beloit schedule have many or all of their 1913 material back in school. Evans, if he succeeds in constructing a team that can stand up against Lawrence, will be considered one of the best coaches in this section.

BADGER MATERIAL DECLARED HOPEFUL

Gridiron Prospects at Madison Show Confidence that Varsity Will Make Grand Showing.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—The football season here is beginning to get started and, of course, prospects just now are not the brightest. The Badger aspirants for the conference championship are not yet claiming the title but some of their backers are showing just a touch of confidence.

Active practice under the tutelage of Coach "Bill" Juneau will begin shortly and experts claim that if he succeeds in building up a backfield the Gophers the Maroons and the Illini will have to exhibit some exceptional football to get through the season. With a new assistant coach who will spend most of his time with the line men and with more assistants to devote their time to the tricks of special positions, the Badgers are sure they will be well taught.

The sheepskin list last spring did not rob the team of line men as it did of backfield. Those who graduated left capable snubs behind. The material for a stone wall is admittedly better than for years past and dopsters are paying little attention to the forwards. In the backfield Juneau will start with but one regular—Buck Bellows. Bellows was a regular last year, a man of good lead his backers to expect a record this season.

Among the missing backs this year are Captain Tandberg, fullback; Torney, Alexander and Ghent, halfbacks. Those who have obtained a line on prospects for this season believe that Captain Tandberg's place will be hardest to fill.

Hay Clayton, prominent here as an all-around player, is regarded as a candidate for fullback. He subbed in 1912 but discarded the moleskins last season. Kreuz, a Menominee youngster, made a fine record in the spring practice season and it is thought that he may be the final choice for the backfield pivot.

The one regular reserve of last season for a halfback is Leo Cummings, a flashy player. It is believed that he will take out naturalization papers here. He is practically sure of a place if he cares to come back.

"Boots" Weimer, whose wrenched knee kept him from a place last year, is confidently expected to equal the records of Van Riper, Bright and Berger, if he suffers no more accidents.

The Badgers have not yet given up hope that Louis Berger of the 1912 championship team will renounce his allegiance to Chicago university and take out naturalization papers here. He is practically sure of a place if he cares to come back.

Bellows, Herbert Taylor, Al Keastlich and Alfred Booth make up the list of strong candidates for quarter.

War Atlas—Cut the coupon from today's paper and bring it into the Gazette office with 17c, or by mail 19c.

HERE'S O'TOOLE IN HIS GIANT UNIFORM

Marty O'Toole.

Here's Marty O'Toole, the famous $22,000 pitcher, who was recently purchased from the Pirates by McGraw. If the Giants win the pennant this year this mighty twirler will deserve a lot of the credit.

STANDINGS OF THE TEAMS.

American League.
	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Philadelphia	89	46	.659
Boston	80	53	.603
Detroit	73	64	.533
Washington	69	63	.522
Chicago	68	72	.487
St. Louis	61	73	.455
New York	61	75	.448
Cleveland	43	93	.316

National League.
	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Boston	77	55	.584
New York	74	59	.556
Chicago	72	64	.529
Columbus	71	64	.524
Philadelphia	64	71	.474
Pittsburgh	62	71	.466
Cincinnati	59	74	.444
Cincinnati	56	77	.421

Federal League.
	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Indianapolis	76	59	.562
Chicago	76	59	.563
Baltimore	71	60	.541
Buffalo	68	63	.519
Brooklyn	67	64	.511
Kansas City	61	72	.455
St. Louis	58	76	.433
Pittsburgh	57	77	.428

American Association.
	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Louisville	90	66	.577
Milwaukee	86	67	.562
Indianapolis	80	71	.530
St. Louis	80	74	.520
Cleveland	77	77	.500
Kansas City	77	79	.496
Minneapolis	74	84	.470
St. Paul	53	103	.339

Results of Thursday's Games.
American League.
New York 7, Chicago 2.
Philadelphia 8, Detroit 3.
Boston 8, Cleveland 1.
Washington 12, St. Louis 2.

National League.
New York 10, Cincinnati 1.
Boston 5, St. Louis 1.
Chicago 5, Brooklyn 1. (ten innings).
Philadelphia 6, Pittsburgh 3-0.

Federal League.
Buffalo 7, St. Louis 2.
Baltimore 8, Kansas City 2.
Chicago 6, Pittsburgh 5.
Indianapolis 7, Brooklyn 5.

American Association.
Louisville 8, Columbus 6.
No other games scheduled.

GAMES SATURDAY.
American League.
New York at Chicago.
Philadelphia at Detroit.
Boston at Cleveland.
Washington at St. Louis.

National League.
Chicago at Brooklyn.
St. Louis at Boston.
Cincinnati at New York.
Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.

Federal League.
Chicago at Pittsburgh.
Kansas City at Baltimore.
St. Louis at Buffalo.
Indianapolis at Brooklyn.

CANDIDATES ENGAGE IN FIRST SCRIMMAGE

Heavy Line is Picked by Coach Curtis in Preliminary Signal Drill Against Remainder of Squad.

The first scrimmage of the 1914 season was held yesterday afternoon by the members of the high school football squad, lasting for some twenty minutes, and following an hour of hard tackling. Woodworth was again on the job assisting Curtis, and together they whipped into shape no less than fifteen inexperienced men, teaching them the rudiments and systematic way to tackle.

The scrimmage was a hard one, every man feeling ready to fight. The team that went against the other members of the squad and picked by Coach Curtis was as follows: L. S. Welsh; L. T. Taylor; J. G. McCulloch; C. Dudley; R. G. Jones; R. T. More and Cronin; R. E. Money, G. B. Capt. Stevin; L. H. Cronin and More; R. H. Dearborn; F. B. Rau.

The backfield on this selection may remain the same, although no predictions are given. The line, although fairly heavy, is not up to snuff as yet, as a great deal of line plunging and tackling the dummy is needed. Mowery is the only member of the squad who exhibits real hard tackling. Several al time during the afternoon he made flying dives, and cornered his man as if a veteran. He is slated for an end job.

Richards is a fast man, and may play the other end Dudley, who played center yesterday, may be shifted to allow Slawson, a heavier man, to take his place. Curtis and Woodworth were greatly pleased at the showing of the candidates yesterday. More scrimmage was on the program for today.

BRAVES AND GIANTS WIN; CUBS ON GAIN

Rudolph Hurls 5 to 1 Victory—Matty Ruessbach in Ten Innings.

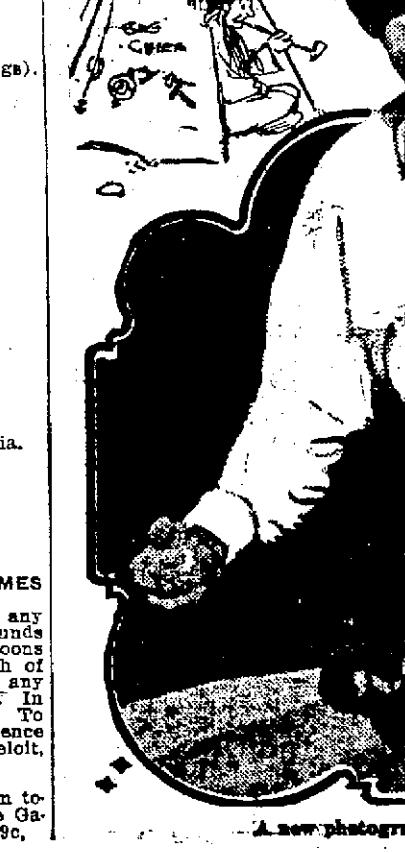

The Braves win, the Giants win, the Braves win, the Giants win. The same old story is repeated again today following Thursday's contests at Boston and New York. There is no use talking, the Braves are playing wonderful ball now days, and it is a question whether the Giants can overtake the three and one-half games lead within the next three weeks.

Rudolph, a member of the Braves hurling, composed of Tyler, James and Rudolph, was the mound victor yesterday. He was opposed by Sallee and Robinson of the Cards, who offered no unusual box work. The pitcher from Stallings' crew won 5 to 1, and allowed 15 hits, while his team mates secured nine.

Christy Mathewson, unquestionably the best Giant pitcher today, won an easy victory over the Reds, 10 to 1, being opposed by Fanning and Doolittle. He allowed nine swats while he presented 6 to the straggling Cincy club.

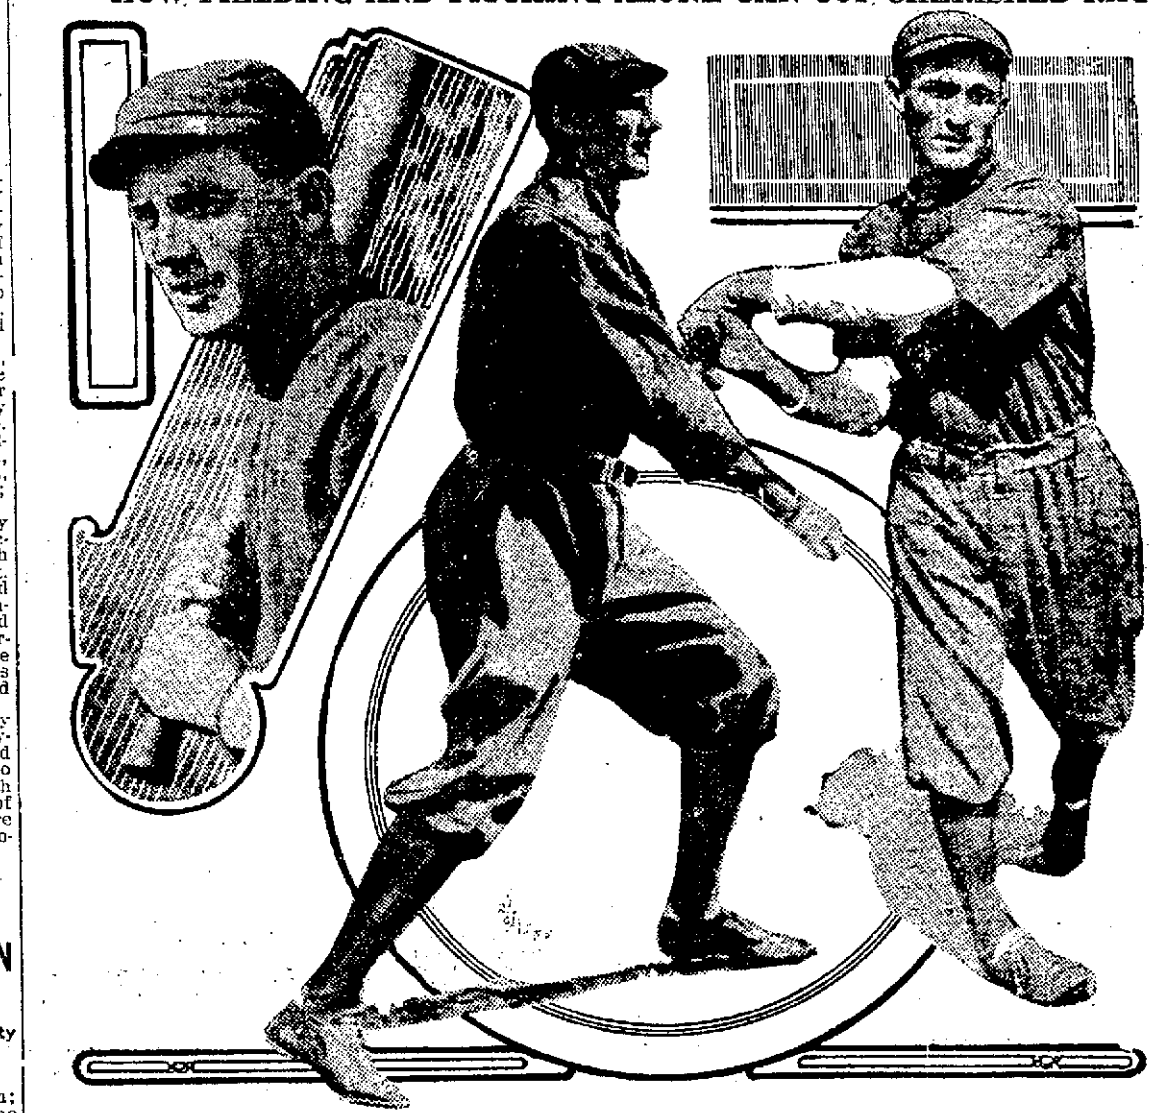

The Cubs passed St. Louis in the race, and are now in third place. The Cards' defeat at the hands of the Braves, and the West Siders win over the Dodgers, accounts for their rise. Ruessbach was on the mound for the Brooklynites, and held the Cubs one run until the tenth, when four runs were pounded off his delivery. The Cubs gathered a total of eleven hits, while Vaughn hurling for O'Day's.

BRAVES' CLIMB PROVES STALLINGS ONE OF THE GREATEST MANAGERS IN THE GAME

A new photograph of George Stallings.

IF BOSTON BRAVES WIN PENNANT 'T'WILL BE DEMONSTRATION OF HOW FIELDING AND PITCHING ALONE CAN COP, CHERISHED RAG

Boston Brave outfielders. Left to right: Cather, Deal and Moran.

If the Boston Braves win the National league pennant this year it will be a demonstration of how fielding and pitching alone can cop the rag. In other departments of the game, particularly at the bat, they are doing indifferent work. Three important cogs in the Brave machine are Cather, Deal and Moran, outfielders.

Sport Snap Shots

A slight change in the football rules this fall will bar the coaches from the sidelines during the game. This is going to displease not only the coaches, but also quite a few of the quarterbacks and captains. The coaches watching the game from the stands will have to suffer in silence when they see their boys being pushed back and when a word to the quarterback might save the situation. It's easy to see that there will be many frenzied coaches in attendance at game this fall. But perhaps they will contrive somehow to get around this. They may be able to dope out a long distance signaling system that will enable them to get word to their quarter in a pinch. They could disguise as water boys or impersonate doctors and get out the field long enough to whisper in the captain's ear. There will be more than a little desperation among coaches if they are not able to find some way around this new rule.

Murderer Given Two Years' Grace.

Greece possesses a curious criminal law. A person sentenced to death there waits two years before the execution of the sentence.

Superstition.

"What worries me about my wife," said Mr. Meekton, confidentially, "is that she is getting superstitious."

"What about?" "Me. Whenever anything goes wrong she always manages to figure it out that I'm the person who brought bad luck into the family."

Joe Boehling the Senator's winning twirler.

Joe Boehling, the Senator's winning twirler, will be out of the game for the rest of the season with an injured knee. A misfortune that will cost Clark Griffith's bunch quite a bit through the remainder of the season.

Providence seems to have a nice chance to grab the international league pennant.

Six of their line-up are batting well up in the .330's. And that timely blingle after all is what grabs the flags.

Happy Felch, the White Sox's $12,000 beauty, is said to be a natural-born fence buster.

Aside from his facility with the stick, however, he is not regarded as anything startling. In many respects he is another Larry Chappelle, although it is declared that he is a better hitter.

There is some talk in Cleveland of post-season games between the Naps and Jimmy Sheekard's A. A. team.

Many declare that it would be no disgrace for the Naps to meet the A. A. bunch, thus implying that the Naps could be disgraced, a point that has been hotly disputed in Cleveland all season. Many others go so far as to say that Sheekard's A. A. team could be able to give Birmingham's Naps a very warm battle and it's hard to get an argument on this.

It must be that McGraw's success with Marquard has made him so reckless as to try and make a winner out of Marty O'Toole.

Mugsey managed to make the peach out of the lemon in the Rubes' case and this may be why he feels that he can do the same with Marty. More power to him, cry many, but not everyone is certain that he'll turn the trick.

Tom Moore CIGAR 10¢ LITTLE TOM 5¢

WHEN many of you men were rolling marbles, Tom Moore was introduced to your fathers and brothers.

Today he's the same Tom Moore—has the same mild, mellow flavor, the same clean long filler, the same silky Sumatra wrapper and the same expert hand workmanship.

FAY, LEWIS & BROS. CO., MILWAUKEE.

The Janesville Gazette
New Bldg. 200-201 E. Milwaukee St.
ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESVILLE, WIS., AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.
MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS
BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.
DAILY EDITION
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
BY CARRIER $6.00
One Year $60.00
One Month $5.00
CASH IN ADVANCE
One Year $55.00
One Month $4.50
BY MAIL CASH IN ADVANCE
Three Months $12.50
Six Months $22.50
One Year $40.00
BY MAIL CASH IN ADVANCE
Six Months $22.50
One Year $40.00
RURAL DELIVERY IN ROCK COUNTY
One Year $45.00

GAZETTE AUGUST CIRCULATION.

Sworn circulation statement of the Daily Gazette circulation of August, 1914.

Days	Copies	Days	Copies
1	7511	15	7573
2	7511	16	7573
3	7511	17	7573
4	7511	18	7573
5	7511	19	7573
6	7511	20	7573
7	7511	21	7573
8	7511	22	7573
9	7511	23	7573
10	7511	24	7573
11	7511	25	7573
12	7511	26	7573
13	7511	27	7573
14	7511	28	7573
15	7511	29	7573
16	7511	30	7573
17	7511	31	7573
18	7511		7573
19	7511		7573
20	7511		7573
21	7511		7573
22	7511		7573
23	7511		7573
24	7511		7573
25	7511		7573
26	7511		7573
27	7511		7573
28	7511		7573
29	7511		7573
30	7511		7573
31	7511		7573

Total 197078
197078 divided by 26 total number of issues 7580.
This is a correct report of the circulation of the Janesville Daily Gazette for August, 1914, and represents the actual number of papers printed and circulated.

H. H. BLISS Mgr.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this first day of September, 1914.
MAE A. FLETCHER
(Seal) Notary Public.
My commission expires July 2, 1916.

GERMANY'S FOOD SUPPLY.
The territory covered by the war now in progress, is so large that the impression prevails that devastation is widespread and all industries abandoned. This is not the case and Germany, especially, is fortunate in having a good crop which will be harvested without much loss, as will be seen by the following dispatch:
"Many Germans in this country, as well as Americans who have hitherto had established business relations with German industries, take decided exception to the claim that anything like bankruptcy has overtaken the internal trade and industry of that country. It should be remembered that one of the leading New York exchanges, and an American citizen of Austrian birth, that the war is not being fought on German soil, with the exception of small districts in the southwest and northwest of the national territory. Almost the whole of Germany is free from military conflict. Although its transportation systems have been at times exclusively occupied with military duties, its railway lines have for the past months or more been free fully half of the time for the ordinary demands of supplying the needs of the various communities and districts. It should also be recalled that the harvesting operations throughout Germany, covering nearly 50,000,000 acres of crops, have been performed by the non-military classes without any serious interruption. German conditions are by no means unfavorable. During the last month fully 1,350,000 bushels of cereals were harvested.
"Protest is made against such statements as emanated from Washington on Tuesday to the effect that the beet fields are now being traversed by troops instead of harvesters in Germany. It is claimed that Germany has large enough population in civil rank to take care of much of the sugar beets in the fields and store them for later consumption. No battles have been fought in the sugar beet districts, of which Hanover is one of the main centers, and the transportation of troops in beet-growing districts, it is held, is by rail and not across the fields. The statement that troops are tramping down the sugar beet fields is characterized as a pure figment of the news imagination."

RETRENCHMENT.
The Pennsylvania railroad has put into effect a new time table that will take out of service three trains leaving Buffalo and three arriving. The discontinuance of the trains is part of a general retrenchment that affects practically every line in the Pennsylvania system.
Orders have been issued from the general offices of the company in Philadelphia to take off fifty trains on the entire system. A general decrease in passenger traffic is given by officials of the road as the reason for the sweeping changes in schedules. The freight service will not be affected by the retrenchment policy. Freight continues to move steadily, and all regular freight trains, as well as the usual number of extras, will be continued in service.
This news item is significant because it is the kind of retrenchment which indicates hard times. Turned down by the government at every point where relief was sought, the railroads are forced to protect themselves as best they may. Abandoning fifty trains means that fifty train cars will be idle and it also means less work for the shops. Railway officials claim that every passenger train in the country is run at a loss, and yet we continue to regulate.

ENDORSES ATTITUDE.
Here is another letter, received by the Gazette yesterday, which speaks for itself. It is a plain endorsement of the attitude which the paper has assumed since the breaking out of the European war, and expresses the sentiment of all fair-minded people. The letter follows:
Dear Sir: I am a foreigner and since I came to Janesville, besides the other three or four big daily papers of Chicago and Milwaukee, I read the Janesville Daily Gazette. I was, therefore, quite surprised last night reading the article of your editor, total, "Race Bias," because I never found in none of the big papers of the yellow press, one more scrupulous, more truthful and more impartial than your Gazette, in relating without any comment the events of the greatest struggle in the history of the world—the present European war.

That is, according to my opinion, the best way to do for a newspaper, the aim of which is to serve and to please the public, to keep its strictest neutrality without hurting the susceptibility of the sympathizers for any one of the different belligerent countries.
I wonder why such a letter was not written a couple of weeks ago when the Kaiser's invading army was at most at the gates of Paris.
A READER.

Call it reactionary, or call it what you like, the taxpayers of Wisconsin are suffering from an overdose of reform and many of these reforms have become burdensome laws. The people of the state have long been praying for relief, but with parties demoralized there was no organization through which they could work until Mr. Philipp was brought to the front by a convention of intelligent voters, five hundred strong. Then things commenced to happen and they have been happening ever since. The climax came on primary election day when with Philipp against the field the people won a signal victory. The republican party in the state has again come into its own and the tax-burdened people have occasion to rejoice.
It is estimated that America has at the present time four million bales of surplus cotton, with no demand at even the minute price of seven and one-half cents. This burden falls upon the southern states where cotton is the principal crop. The cotton grower is a small producer, and as a rule is financed by some bank or local merchant. He starts the year in debt, and by the time the crop is ready to harvest his liabilities absorb the product, at normal prices. The government has already done something to relieve present conditions, but many men in the south are still close to the edge of bankruptcy.

All sorts of rumors are afloat concerning an independent state ticket, and one of the rumors from Madison is to the effect that La Follette will head the ticket. This would be the easiest way to settle all uncertainties about the future of Wisconsin politics, and if Senator La Follette decides to enter the race, the chances are more than even that Mr. Philipp might be induced to finance his campaign.

The problem of how to feed the great army of prisoners captured by the contending forces, is a serious problem, as the several nations interested are finding to their embarrassment. The countries devastated by war are suffering from food supply, and this shortage is increasing as time advances. These conditions should contribute to an early settlement of the war. The countries despoiled will not recover for half a century and the losses will never be made good.

On The Spur of The Moment

By a Rural Swain.
I once fell in love with a maiden;
She was no spring chicken at that.
She, surely enough, was a vision,
From her dainty suede shoes to her rat.
I blazed all my money upon her;
I bought ice cream cones by the peck.
I bought her a nice box of candy;
My bank account soon was a wreck.
The next day I asked her to marry.
The pain in my heart really hurt;
'Twas then that I found out that Carrie was one of them things called a flirt.

She murmured, "I love you most dearly."
But marriage you should not expect.
That's out of the question, yes, clearly,
"My husband would surely object."
Oh, often, quite often I've tarried
And basked in their coquettish spell.
But most of all of them have been married.
And how is a feller to tell?

The Good Old Winter Time.
Soon comes the good old winter time with all its shakes and chills, its soap stones and its arcticity, its plasters and its pills, its rheumatism and its chilblains, and its asthma and its grip, its flannels and its overshoes, and even its weather strip; its blizzard from Dakota and its rain and sleet and snow, which serve to off remind you of the coal bills that you owe. The ladies' literary clubs again have struck their gait, and father's getting supper now, when mother stays out late. The nation's being cared for by the men down at the store. They're fixing up the politics for fifty years or more. The Christmas list is under way and mother is in doubt, and she is worrying a lot on how she will come out. We're havin' buckwheat cakes again instead of corned beef hash, and all the younger kids are skinned they'll break out with a rash. The baby has been sewed up for the winter in a sack, and won't come out again until the robins have come back. Grandma is knitting mittens and the storm doors are all up, and mother has got jelly in most every glass and cup. The back yard's full of cordwood and we are all fixed, by gum. Start the blizzards. See if we care. Let the doggone winter come.

Luck.
With a determination grim,
I've followed superstition's whim.
I've picked up horseshoes by the score
And hung them up above my door.
And though you may call it a joke,
I've never dared to kill a cat.
I've never spilled salt or water;
Beneath a ladder I never walk.
Of fenshild dreams I never talk.
I gaze at each new moon, sublime,
O'er my right shoulder every time.
But, what sign of a crock?
Luck's turned me down; so, what's the use?
Bad luck with me is now acute—
The moths have got my old suit.

Uncle Abner.
There ain't no feller that can spread so much genuine gloom in a given time as a pessimistic clarinet player. Heretofore, he plays the flat clarinet in our village band, and he's out "My Rosary" until it makes a funeral seem like an Elks' picnic by comparison.
Uncle Lem Perkins lost his meerschaum pipe about three months ago and has just found it. It dropped into his whiskers while he was asleep.
The main difference between a

DESPITE GERMAN BULLETS, BELGIAN DISPATCH BEARER DOES HIS DUTY

M. Bergen leaving hospital with Red Cross officer.

M. Bergen, a Belgian dispatch bearer, successfully rode twenty miles through the German lines to deliver a dispatch to the Liebroeck fortress, near Malines. In spite of serious wounds from German bullets, received when only eight miles out, he reached his destination safely.

VICE COMMITTEE DELAYS PREPARATION OF REPORT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—Owing to the illness of Senator R. W. Monk of Neillsville, the meeting of the state vice investigating committee was not held this week. Another reason was the absence of Assemblyman George W. Bingham from the state. The calling of the postponed meeting will await the return to health of Senator Monk. The preparation of the committee's report is the chief object of the meeting.
The majority of J. Henry Bennett

"Little Mary" PICKFORD

Hereafter this very popular player will appear every Sunday at Majestic Theatre in a series of re-issued Biograph pictures of unusual merit. Arthur Johnson, Mack Sennett and other prominent stars will also appear in many of them, and the fine touch of Director D. W. Griffith will be recognized in most of them. The first three to be shown will be comedies, which will be surpassed by the dramas that will follow. This Sunday, "The Pickford" will appear with Arthur Johnson in "All on Account of the Milk."

MAJESTIC

COMING ATTRACTIONS.
Apollo Theatre
NEXT MONDAY
Malcon Williams in the famous drama
"The Brute"
ALL SEATS 10c.
Wednesday
A Griffith production with 25 stars.
"Home Sweet Home"
in 6 parts.
ALL SEATS 10c.

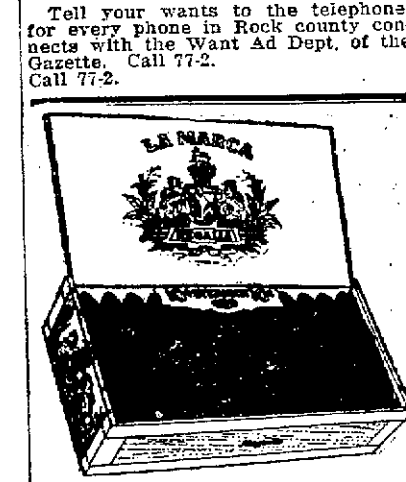

Top to bottom: John Barrett, Robert Dollar and Clarence W. Owens.
These men and several others who are well known in the business world have been named by Secretary of Commerce Redfield to act with a committee of the National Foreign Trade Council in working out plans to expand trade with Latin America and meet emergencies thrust upon the western hemisphere by the European war. Barrett is director of the American Union; Dollar is a millionaire ship owner of San Francisco, and Owens is one of the directors of the Southern Commercial Congress.
Why continue in a business unsuited to you when a Gazette Want Ad is always sure to sell it?

of Viroqua over Senator Teasdale for the senatorial nomination is officially ascertained at just 1,000.

IS TO SPEAK VERSUS SALOON COMBINATION

Hon. J. C. Bartholf will chastise Demon Rum at Albion Saturday and Fulton Sunday.
Hon. J. C. Bartholf, former member of assembly from this district, will speak at the Fulton Congregational church next Sunday evening, on behalf of the Anti-Saloon League. Years ago Mr. Bartholf often spoke in this part of the state, and has many friends here who will be glad of an opportunity to hear him again. On Saturday evening the speaker will appear at the Albion Seventh Day Baptist church in the interests of prohibition.
Tell your wants to the telephone, for every phone in Rock county connects with the Want Ad Dept. of the Gazette, Call 77-2.
Call 77-2.

LaMarca Cigar

The La Marca 10c Cigar always pleases. Try it tomorrow.

For Friday and Saturday
5c STRAIGHT
Box of 25 .....$1.25
Box of 50 .....$2.50

Smith's Pharmacy
The REXALL Store
Kodaks and Kodak Supplies
14 West Milwaukee St.

Red Cross Pharmacy

The Drug Store That's Different.
Cameras. Photo Supplies.

MYERS THEATRE

THE HOME OF EXCLUSIVE UNIVERSAL PHOTOPLAYS
High Class Vaudeville
Opening the season for Vaudeville at Myers Theatre with Friday matinee. Three days, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, matinee daily.

FRANCES LEMAIRE

Phenomenal Roller Skating and Unicycle Novelty.
KNIGHT & BENSON
Novelty Entertainers; The Kind You Like.
CARROL, KEATING & FAY
Singing Comedians in their original sketch entitled, "At Crow's Nest Inn."

Regular Picture Program

Our usual high grade Exclusive Universal Photoplays presented at each performance.
Admission: Matinee, 10c; evening, adults, 25c; children, 10c.
Go Where All Janesville Goes—to the MYERS.

MYERS THEATRE

TONIGHT
"A Rose For Love—A Card for Death."

"The Trey O' Hearts"

SEE THE 4th EPISODE
"Dead Reckoning"
Thrilling Fight On The Dock
More Exciting Than Ever. More Intense Interest.

ALLEN

ALL WOOL SHOP
56 South Main Street

STANLEY KLOSKY GIVEN VERDICT OVER ART NELSON.

Stanley "Sledgehammer" Klosky, the Cuba City fighting miner, won a newspaper decision over Art Nelson, of Sparta, in ten rounds of slow fighting at Platteville, Wednesday night. Klosky knocked Nelson down in the fifth and seventh rounds and was the aggressor throughout. Both gladiators were nearly exhausted at the sound of the last song. This is the eighth straight victory over the giant minor, but it is the first time Klosky has failed to register a knock out.

Butter Biscuits Tomorrow

Ready for Delivery Saturday P. M.

ROMAN MEAL BREAD

Equal to Meat Try a Loaf

From Your Grocer or the Makers

GOLVIN'S BAKING COMPANY

Amos Rehberg Co.

Janesville's Greatest Clothing and Shoe Store.
Corner Milwaukee and River Sts.

Apollo Theatre

FEATURE VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM FOR THE END OF THE WEEK.

Bingham & Gable

Musical act.
Pryor & Addison
Singing, talking and comedy skit.

The Todd-Nards

Novelty equilibrists.
Mutual Movies
Always two or more reels of new photoplays.
Matinee, all seats 10c.
Evening, 7:30 and 9:15.
THREE SHOWS DAILY
Lower floor 20c; balcony 10c

PRINCESS THEATRE

Special Tonight
A Big Western Program.
The Gun Man
A stirring two reel western drama.

Pursuer Pursued

Exciting drama of the west.
A Suspended Ceremony
Second installment of "A Midsummer's Love Tangle," featuring Margarita Fischer. TOMORROW'S FEATURE.

False Gods

An adventurous tale of political intrigue.
Matinee: 2:30 P. M.
Evening: 7 P. M. sharp.
ADMISSION, 10c.

The Voice of Misanthropy.

"Suppose some power were to answer the poet's prayer and give us the gift of seeing ourselves as others see us?" "Well, for one thing, it would do a great deal to discourage the craze for dancing."

War Atlas—Cut the coupon from today's paper and bring it into the Gazette office with 17c, or by mail 19c.

Rehberg's
Janesville Merchants' Combined Fall Style Show and Opening, October First, Second and Third.

Janesville's Greatest Shoe Store

Here's a shoe store without a peer in Southern Wisconsin. More shoes here than shown anywhere else hereabouts. Gives you wider choice of selection from the latest metropolitan styles.

WOMEN'S SHOES—Cloth Top Boots with either dull or patent toes are to be very popular, $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00. Foster shoes for women, $5.00.

MEN'S SHOES—The low flat heel English last with leather or rubber soles or heels are in brisk demand. Black or tan, $4.00, $4.50 and $5.00.

Amos Rehberg Co.

Janesville's Greatest Clothing and Shoe Store.
Corner Milwaukee and River Sts.

I'll Stop That Toothache at Once

DR. F. T. RICHARDS

(Over Reubens's.)

I have done that very thing for thousands of patients. I have not only cured their toothaches, but I have fixed their teeth so as to avoid future trouble—and I have done it WITHOUT CAUSING PAIN. That's why they are still my patients; that's why I am now treating the families and friends of my old patients.

Less Than a Cent a Day

Can you afford to take chances on the safety of your valuable papers when you can have absolute safety for them in our new safe deposit vault for only $2.00 a year?

We have larger boxes also at $3.00 a year and upwards.

The First National Bank
Established 1855.

F. R. LINTLEMAN, M. D.

Practice limited to Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Suit 322 and 323 Hayes Block.
Both Phones.

WALL PAPER SALE

We are now offering some very attractive prices on wall papers for the fall season. You'll be able to make a considerable saving here now.

CARL W. DIEHLS
THE ART STORE
26 W. Milw. St.

BECOME A MONTHLY SAVER

Open an account now, this bank is open every Saturday evening for the accomodation of savings depositors.

The Rock County
Savings & Trust Company

Open Saturday Evenings.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

FOR RENT—House; old phone 1452, 11-5-18-6t.

WANTED TO RENT—5 or 6-room modern house, close in. 12-9-18-6t.

WANTED—Delivery boy for Saturday. Must know the town. C. L. Gums & Co. 5-9-18-2t.

WANTED—Several girls for general work in stitching; steady employment; good wages. Lewis Knitting Co. 4-9-18-4t.

WANTED—Salesman and collector at once. 126 Corn Exchange. 5-9-18-3t.

LOCAL BRIEF ITEMS.

The next meeting and dance of the dancers will be held Wednesday evening, September 23, at U. S. V. V. hall. Music by McGinley and Menzies. Admission, 25c. Ladies free.

Special meeting of Court No. 175, W. L. O. P. at their hall this evening at 7:45 to make arrangements to attend the funeral of our deceased sister, Mary Garry.

Katherine Kelly, Recording Secretary.

RACINE FAILURE CAUSES MATCH'S POSTPONEMENT WITH LOCAL GOLF CLUB

Members of the Racine Country Club invited by the Mississippi Golf Club of this city to visit the local links tomorrow will not be here. Many members of the Racine Country Club are interested in the Commercial and Savings Bank of Racine which closed its doors, due to a "temporary embarrassment" yesterday morning. This morning, however, was to the effect that means would be undertaken to visit the Janesville club a week from tomorrow.

SECURE SUPERVISORS FOR CORN CONTEST

L. A. Markham and J. W. McDowell
Cover Northwestern Territory of County Thursday—Are Out Today.

L. A. Markham, county Y. M. C. A. secretary and one of the field managers of the big Rock county corn contest, accompanied by J. W. McDowell, secretary of the Commercial Club, are making use of the good weather now being enjoyed, by touring the county for the purpose of appointing supervisors to oversee the boys entered in the contest this fall, especially during the harvesting season.

Yesterday they covered the northeastern territory of the county, in and about Milton, and chose the following men to look after the contest in their respective communities during the harvesting of the corn: northeast, near Milton, J. G. Carr of Milton; south of Milton, F. G. Rumpf; Milwaukee road, Arthur Howarth; Emerald Grove, J. H. Witmore. The men are touring the northwestern section of the county today, in Geo. S. Parker's machine, for the purpose of appointing overseers in that district. Markham reports large yields throughout the county, despite the storms of Monday, which lodged the crops to a certain extent. The crops are good as well as large. As it was utterly impossible for Markham to cover the entire county satisfactorily during the harvesting season, this form of co-operation of the farmers, will make it possible to clean up the county in much less time, and to afford a more successful contest. There is a wide interest taken by the boys of the county, and every indication points to a banner year in this line of activity.

CASHIER OF CLOSED BANK IS KNOWN HERE

Many Janesville People Friends of Charles R. Carpenter of Racine Institution.

Charles R. Carpenter, cashier of the Racine Commercial and Savings Bank which closed its doors yesterday due to a "temporary embarrassment," is well known in this city. He has visited here many times and has a host of sympathizers in the bank's present crisis.

Several Janesville people hold stock in the institution, but worry today over the effect that the closing of the bank will have on the stockholders or depositors will suffer loss. Racine financiers have already taken action to place the bank on solid footing and there are rumors to the effect that the bank's officers are planning to take over all assets and liabilities of the closed concern.

A notice posted on the door yesterday morning stated that it was necessary to close the doors temporarily.

The Commercial & Savings bank, Racine, according to the latest annual report of the state commissioner of banking, had on December 1, 1913, total assets of $3,260,000. The capital stock is $400,000 and the surplus $200,000. The loans and discounts aggregated $2,775,000 and the total of deposits was $2,512,000.

ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF EDNA SHOEMAKER

Bride-to-be is Given Reception by Dulcis Club at Gardner Home on Milton Ave. Last Evening.

Miss Edna Shoemaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Shoemaker of the town of Janesville, who is soon to become the bride of William Curtis of this city, was entertained last evening by the Dulcis club, of which she is a member. The reception took place at the home of Miss Jeanie Gardner, 315 Milton avenue. Music and games formed the pastime for the evening, all enjoying a very pleasant evening. Miss Edna Jones won the prize at cards.

BOB WELCH FACES PRISON TERM FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Municipal Judge H. L. Maxfield adjourned the case of Robert Welch, charged with second offense drunkenness, until Saturday morning to investigate reports of the council of the prisoners who are under commitment law sentence. Records were taken in court this morning of the places where Welch had been employed during his term. Welch plead guilty to the charge and waived his right to a hearing, asking for immediate sentence.

George Truesdale was arraigned before Judge Maxfield on an old charge of non-support and his case was adjourned for sixty days on the recommendation of District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie.

HOTEL ARRIVALS.

Grand Hotel: R. E. Richardson; E. B. Gillette, James Gibbs, W. H. Kingsbury, D. E. Christie, A. Nelson, Milwaukee; R. Claborn, J. R. Hayes, G. S. Martin, P. J. Pursell, Madison; J. J. Hausman, Mineral Point; D. J. Hausman, Racine; M. L. Collins, Fond du Lac; F. H. Nause and wife, Brodhead.

Myers Hotel: O. Landis, Walter P. Holmes, E. Bersback, Milwaukee; W. H. Chesnut, Beloit; J. A. Baker, Milton Junction; V. W. Churm, Beaver Dam; D. Rutter, H. S. Thill, La Crosse.

These May Wed: George H. Edwards and Miss Emma Linderman, both of Beloit.

Osage Melons

Fancy Heavy H. G. Melons, 2 for 25c, and 3 for 25c, according to size.

Wash. Box Peaches, 80c.

Jonathan Eating Apples, 5c lb.

Jersey Sweet Potatoes, 5c lb.

Swiss and Elsie Cheese.

Pinest of Hams, Bacon, and Dried Beef.

Head Lettuce and Cauliflower.

Concord Grapes, 20c bskt.

Eaco Flour and Boston Coffee.

Dedrick Bros.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Ross Lowry of 213 North Washington street, was in Milwaukee today, and while there he took in the fair. Miss Millie Brinker was a member of an auto party which attended state fair at Milwaukee on Thursday.

T. S. Nolan spent the day in Madison on business. Otto E. Wasson of Fort Dodge, Ia., is business visitor in town today. Ben Myers of this city, is spending the day in Milwaukee at the state fair.

J. H. Hanlan of Chicago, is transacting business in Janesville today. Twenty members of the Eastern Star Study Class went to Afton on Thursday, where they were the guests of Mrs. Agnes Bliss. Lowry and Mrs. Lillian Eddy at the Eddy cottage. A very pleasant afternoon was spent by the members. A tea was served at five o'clock and the ladies returned home on the 6:30 train.

E. J. Brown of La Crosse, Wis., was a business visitor in this city this week.

George Yahn, Jr., who has been out of the city for several weeks, has taken a position with the Ferris Seed company. He will travel through Iowa, Nebraska and Arkansas and will not return to the University at Madison. Frank J. Blum, Jr., of North Jackson street, has accepted a position as teacher in the public schools at Edgerton.

Miss Johanna Hayes left a few days ago for Rockford, to resume her studies.

William Raybor is spending the day in Milwaukee on business.

Miss Edna Jones, who left Beloit yesterday to resume his studies at the Beloit college.

W. E. Arnold spent Thursday in Milwaukee and attended the state fair.

Mrs. William Raybor of Milton avenue, has gone to Milton Junction today to attend the funeral of her aunt.

S. Jackman left this morning for Cuba on a business trip.

Mrs. Ella Judd Mitchell of Rock Island, was the guest on Thursday of her cousin, Mrs. Baker Woodruff. Mrs. Mitchell is a resident of Rock Island.

Harold Amerphol of South Bluff street, has been confined to the house for the past week with illness. He is convalescing slowly.

Mrs. Wesley Guest and daughter, Verne and Mrs. Martha Staples of Evanston, Ill., are visitors at the home of Mrs. William Winkley on Milton avenue.

Miss Edna Smith Miller, who has been visiting friends this week in Janesville, has returned to her home in Evansville.

Mrs. William Holmes, who has been visiting relatives in Beloit and Rockford for the past week, returned home today.

Mr. and Mrs. William Neher of School street, have returned home from a visit with their brother in Eau Claire, Wis.

Mrs. W. N. Cash and daughter of Evansville, who have been spending a few days in the city with relatives, returned home on Wednesday.

Rev. Father Harlin of Edgerton, was the guest of relatives in this city this week.

The Janesville Rebecca lodge, No. 17, celebrated the anniversary of the Rebecca degree at east side Odd Fellow hall on Thursday evening.

Miss Kate Crall of Milton, was the guest of friends in this city this week.

Mrs. Walter King, who has been spending part of the summer at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Spellmann on South Jackson street, returned today to her home in Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. F. B. Goodrich and daughters were Janesville shoppers recently from Milton Junction.

Frank Blackford and family spent the first of the week in Juda with relatives.

Mrs. Julia Wadel of Hanover, is the guest of friends in the city this week.

Cash Williams, manager of Board's Hotel at Koshkonong Lake, spent Thursday in Janesville.

Mrs. T. Sheridan is the guest of friends in Janesville for a few days.

Miss Hattie Timpany has returned from a visit of several days with friends in Plymouth.

Mrs. G. Dunwiddie, Misses Ida Green, Emma Richardson and Helen Jeffris are spending the week at the Richardson cottage at Lake Koshkonong.

Mrs. C. J. Jones and Mrs. S. M. Ector are returning from Milwaukee where they attended the state fair.

Janesville Meat House

For Cash When You Get Your Own Meat

Pork Shoulder Roasts 15c

Ham Roast Pork ..... 18c

Pork Sausage ..... 12 1/2c

Side Pork, salt or fresh 15c

Pig Hocks, no feet ..... 10c

Pork Steak ..... 18c

All Our Meats Are Home Dressed

Pot Roasts Beef ..... 15c, 12 1/2c

Plate Beef ..... 10c

Round Steak ..... 20c

Hamburg Steak ..... 15c

Sirloin Steak ..... 23c

A Dandy Bacon 16c

Mutton Chops ..... 15c

Good Luck Butterine ..... 20c

White Royal Butterine ..... 15c

Beef Liver ..... 12 1/2c

Spring Lamb, Beef Tongues, Pork Tenderloin, Chickens.

Rump Corn Beef ..... 18c

Pickled Pigs Feet, 3 lbs. 25c

A. G. Metzinger

PHONES—

New, 56. Old, 436.

HASTEN HARVESTING OF THE LATE CROPS

Cool Weather of Early September Prevented Late Tobacco's Maturing.—Buying Movement Starts.

The cool weather during the early part of September has so delayed the ripening of the tobacco crop that the harvest is still under way and is likely to last for a week or ten days yet before all is secured. An enormous rain fall on Monday with a precipitation of over six inches has flooded a great many fields of standing leaf doing more or less damage. In localities the storm assumed the nature of a tornado and 15 to 25 sheds filled with new tobacco were destroyed in the vicinity of Cambridge.

Warm weather following to prove a help in maturing late tobacco as well as assist in curing the shedded tobacco. Some tobacco undoubtedly has been cut too green during the cool weather when frost signals were sent out, but danger from this source seems over for the present.

Quite a little of the new crop has been contracted for in the Orfordville and Footville sections by Janesville dealers, mainly at prices ranging from 15 to 14 cents a pound for a few choice selections, but the large operators have not as yet been drawn into the deal.—Edgerton Reporter.

War Atlas—Cut the coupon from today's paper and bring it into the Gazette office with 17c, or by mail 18c.

LOOK

Big Banana, Peach and Grape Sale

Large Yellow Bananas, doz. .... 10c

Fancy Grapes bskt. .... 18c

Handle Basket Peaches, Michigan Freestones. 25c

Bushel Michigan Peaches, fancy, ..... $1.85

Fancy Jonathan Eating Apples, lb. .... 5c

Canning Pears, bu. .... $1.40

Good Cooking Apples, lb. 4c

12 lbs. for ..... 40c

Extra Fine Crab Apples.

Fresh Cocoanuts, each. .... 8c

Home Grown Melons.

Watermelons ..... 10c

Muskmelons ..... 8c, 8c

Hubbard Squash ..... 12c, 15c

Fresh Pumpkins ..... 10c, 12c

Real Sweetcorn, doz. .... 12c

Hard Large Cabbage, head 6c

Turnips, Carrots, Parsnips, Beets, Summer Squash, Cucumbers, Red Cabbage, Red and Green Tomatoes.

We have everything that you want and they are the Best

Give Us A Trial.

Taylor Bros.

Both Phones.

15 lbs. Pure Granu- lated Sugar $1.00

Michigan Canning Peaches $1.50 Bu.

Fancy Table Potatoes, 80c bu.

H. G. Cantaloupes 8c.

Tokay Grapes, 12 1/2c lb.

Concord Grapes 20c bskt.

3 bunches Celery 10c.

Canning Pears, $1.25 bu.

6 lbs. New Jersey Sweet Potatoes 25c.

Cooking Apples 4c lb.

Tradegy Blue Plums 50c bskt.

2 large Red Peppers 5c.

New Cabbage, Pumpkin and Squash.

4 cans Corn 25c.

3 cans Peas 25c.

2 15c cans Van Camp's Beans 25c.

Large Cauliflower 20c hd.

White Clover Honey 17c lb.

2-lb. pail Rex Jelly 10c.

Tall jar Rex Jam 15c.

4 lbs. Ginger Snaps 10c.

Fancy Lean Salt Pork 18c lb.

Home Made Cookies 10c lb.

3 tall Golden Key Milk 25c

Large Bismark Queen Olives 25c jar.

3 lbs. Fancy Dried Peaches 25c.

Get our prices on good Bacon, Picnic Hams and Regular Hams, Boiled Ham and Dried Beef.

Colvin's Bohemian Coffee Cakes 15c.

G. L. GUMS & CO.

24 N. Main St.

Bell Phone, 80, 61.

Rock Co. 647, 626.

DR. BEATON TO SPEAK AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Dr. David Beaton, former pastor of the Congregational church, will speak at that edifice on Sunday, September 27.

RECEIVES CONGRATULATIONS ON HIS 85TH BIRTHDAY

John Nelson of 524 Park avenue received congratulations today on the occasion of his eighty-fifth birthday.

Take your dinner at the Tea Bell Sunday.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Ralph J. Jenkins announces the opening of his studio for vocal work for the coming year. He will be pleased to see anyone desiring lessons Saturday afternoon, September 19th, from 2:00 o'clock until 6:00 o'clock P. M. at his studio, 309 South Bluff St.

New phone 343 Blue.

Better Meats for Your Table

The best quality meats; the kind you want; that's the only kind we have.

Spring and Year Old Chickens.

Prime Steer Beef.

Choice Veal.

Spring Lamb.

Sweet Pickled Corned Beef.

Beef Tongues.

Home Dressed Pig Pork, Ham, Loin and Shoulder.

Pig Pork Sausage, Bulk, Link and Midgets.

Home Made Sausages of all kinds.

Wafer Sliced Dried Beef, Boiled Ham and Veal Loaf.

Prompt Deliveries to any part of the city.

J. F. SCHOOFF

The Market on the Square.

Both Phones.

CUDAHY

Cash Market

39 S. Main St.

Meat Specials For Saturday

Spring Chickens, 3 to 4 lb. average.

Best Pot Roast of Beef. 15c

Choice Rib Roast of Beef 17c

Choice Round Steak. 20c

Choice Sirloin Steak. 20c

Beef Tongues ..... 18c

Fresh Beef Liver ..... 10c

Fresh Pork Liver ..... 6c

Calf Hearts ..... 12 1/2c

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—It Seems Father's Happiness Lacks Staying Qualities—

BY F. LEIPZIGER

The Last Shot

By FREDERICK PALMER

(Copyright, 1914, by Charles Scribner's Sons)

"He is not of the faint-hearted, plotting type. He spoke his mind openly," suggested Lanstron. "If you give him the limit of the law, why, he becomes a martyr to persecution. I should say that his remarks might pass for bar-room gassing."

"Very well," said the colonel, taking the shortest way out of the difficulty. "We will excuse the first offense."

"Yes, sir!" said the sergeant mechanically as he released his grip of the offender. "We had two anarchists in my company in Africa," he observed in loyal agreement with orders. "They fought like devils. The only trouble was to keep them from shooting innocent natives for sport."

Straneky's collar was still crumpled on the nape of his neck. He remained stock-still, staring down the bridge of his nose. For a full minute he did not vouchsafe so much as a glance upward over the change in his fortunes. Then he looked around at Lanstron glowering.

"I know who you are!" he said. "You were born in the purple. You have had education, opportunity, position—everything that you and your kind want to keep for your kind. You are smarter than the others. You would hang a man with spider webs instead of hemp. But I won't fight for you! No, I won't!"

He threw back his head with a determination in his defiance so intense that it had a certain kind of dignity that freed it of theatrical affectation.

"Yes, I was fortunate; but perhaps nature was not altogether unkind to you," said Lanstron. "In Napoleonic times, Straneky, I think you might even have carried a marshal's baton in your knapsack."

"You—what rot!" A sort of triumph played around Straneky's full lips and he few shot out challengingly. "No, never against my comrades on the other side of the border!" he concluded, his dogged stare returning.

Now the colonel gave the order to fall in; the bugle sounded and the centipede's legs began to assemble on the road. But Straneky remained a statue, his rifle untouched on the sward. He seemed of a mind to let the regiment go on without him.

"Straneky, fall in!" called the sergeant.

Still Straneky did not move. A comrade picked up the rifle and fairly thrust it into his hands.

"Come on, Bert, and knead dough with the rest of us!" he whispered.

Straneky, still in his defiant pose, looked at the rifle and then at the sergeant.

"I don't want to go to the army!" he said.

"Why?" asked his father, thinking that when the boy had to give his reasons he would soon be argued out of the heresy.

"It's drilling a few hours a day, then nothing to do," Arthur replied. "All your work waits on war and you don't know that there will ever be any war. It waits on something nobody wants to happen. Now, if you manufacture something, why, you see wool come out cloth, steel come out an automobile. If you build a bridge you see it rising little by little. You're getting your results every day; you see your mistakes and your successes. You're making something, creating something; there's something going on all the while that isn't guesswork. I think that's what I want to say. You won't order me to be a soldier, will you?"

The father, loath to do this, called in the assistance of an able pleader then, Eugene Partow, lately become chief of staff of the Browns, who was an old friend of the Lanstron family. Partow turned the balance on the side of filial affection. He kept watch of the boy, but without favoring him with influence. Young Lanstron, who wanted to see results, had to earn them. He realized in practice the truth of Partow's saying that there was nothing he had ever learned but what could be of service to him as an officer.

"Finding enough work to do?" Partow would ask with a chuckle when they met in these days; for he had made Lanstron both chief of intelligence and chief aerostatic officer. Young Lanstron's duty was the duty of gaining the secrets of the Gray staff and keeping those of the Brown and organizing up-to-the-moment efficiency in the new forces of the air.

He had remarked truly enough that the injury to his left hand served as a better reminder against the folly of wool-gathering than a string, even a large red string, tied around his finger. Thanks to skillful surgery, the fingers, incapable of spreading much, were yet serviceable and had a firm grip of the wheel as he rose from the aeroplane station on the Sunday morning after Marta's return home for a flight to La Tir.

He knew the pattern weaving under his feet as one knows that of his own garden from an overlooking window. Every detail of the staff map, ravines, roads, buildings, battery positions, was stitched together in the flowing reality of actual vision. No white posts were necessary to tell him where the boundary between the two nations lay. The line was drawn in his brain.

Now that Lanstron was the organizer of the aviation corps his own flights were rare. Mostly they were made to La Tir. His visits to Marta were his holidays. All the time that she was absent on her journey around the world they had corresponded. Her letters, so revealing of herself and her peculiar angles of observation, formed a bundle sacredly preserved. Her mother's joking reference about her girlish resolution not to marry a soldier often returned to him. There, he sometimes thought, was the real obstacle to his great desire.

When he alighted from the plane he thrust his left hand into his blouse pocket. He always carried it there, as if it were literally sewn in place. In moments of emotion the scarred nerves would twitch as the telltale of his sensitiveness; and this was something he would conceal from others no matter how conscious he was of it himself. He found the Galland veranda deserted. In response to his ring a maid came to the open door. Her face was sad, with a beauty that had prematurely faded. But it lighted pleasantly in recognition. Her hair was thick and tawny, lying low over the brow; her eyes were a softly luminous brown and her full lips sensitive and yielding. Lanstron, an intimate of the Galland household, knew her story well and the part that Marta had played in it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER V.

A Sunday Morning Call.

As a boy, Arthur Lanstron had persisted in being an exception to the influences of both heredity and environment. Though his father and both grandfathers were officers who believed there to be the true gentleman's profession, he had preferred any kind of mechanical toy to arranging the most gayly painted tin soldiers in formation on the nursery floor; and he would rather read about the wonders of natural history and electricity than the campaigns of Napoleon and Frederick the Great and my Lord Nelson. Left to his own choice, he would miss the parade of the garrison for inspection by an excellency in order to ask questions of a man wiping the oil off his hands with cotton-waste, who was far more entertaining to him than the most spick-and-ran ramrod of a sergeant.

Upon being told one day that he was to go to the military school the following autumn, he broke out in open rebellion.

"I don't want to go to the army!" he said.

"Why?" asked his father, thinking that when the boy had to give his reasons he would soon be argued out of the heresy.

"It's drilling a few hours a day, then nothing to do," Arthur replied. "All your work waits on war and you don't know that there will ever be any war. It waits on something nobody wants to happen. Now, if you manufacture something, why, you see wool come out cloth, steel come out an automobile. If you build a bridge you see it rising little by little. You're getting your results every day; you see your mistakes and your successes. You're making something, creating something; there's something going on all the while that isn't guesswork. I think that's what I want to say. You won't order me to be a soldier, will you?"

The father, loath to do this, called in the assistance of an able pleader then, Eugene Partow, lately become chief of staff of the Browns, who was an old friend of the Lanstron family. Partow turned the balance on the side of filial affection. He kept watch of the boy, but without favoring him with influence. Young Lanstron, who wanted to see results, had to earn them. He realized in practice the truth of Partow's saying that there was nothing he had ever learned but what could be of service to him as an officer.

"Finding enough work to do?" Partow would ask with a chuckle when they met in these days; for he had made Lanstron both chief of intelligence and chief aerostatic officer. Young Lanstron's duty was the duty of gaining the secrets of the Gray staff and keeping those of the Brown and organizing up-to-the-moment efficiency in the new forces of the air.

He had remarked truly enough that the injury to his left hand served as a better reminder against the folly of wool-gathering than a string, even a large red string, tied around his finger. Thanks to skillful surgery, the fingers, incapable of spreading much, were yet serviceable and had a firm grip of the wheel as he rose from the aeroplane station on the Sunday morning after Marta's return home for a flight to La Tir.

He knew the pattern weaving under his feet as one knows that of his own garden from an overlooking window. Every detail of the staff map, ravines, roads, buildings, battery positions, was stitched together in the flowing reality of actual vision. No white posts were necessary to tell him where the boundary between the two nations lay. The line was drawn in his brain.

Now that Lanstron was the organizer of the aviation corps his own flights were rare. Mostly they were made to La Tir. His visits to Marta were his holidays. All the time that she was absent on her journey around the world they had corresponded. Her letters, so revealing of herself and her peculiar angles of observation, formed a bundle sacredly preserved. Her mother's joking reference about her girlish resolution not to marry a soldier often returned to him. There, he sometimes thought, was the real obstacle to his great desire.

When he alighted from the plane he thrust his left hand into his blouse pocket. He always carried it there, as if it were literally sewn in place. In moments of emotion the scarred nerves would twitch as the telltale of his sensitiveness; and this was something he would conceal from others no matter how conscious he was of it himself. He found the Galland veranda deserted. In response to his ring a maid came to the open door. Her face was sad, with a beauty that had prematurely faded. But it lighted pleasantly in recognition. Her hair was thick and tawny, lying low over the brow; her eyes were a softly luminous brown and her full lips sensitive and yielding. Lanstron, an intimate of the Galland household, knew her story well and the part that Marta had played in it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER V.

A Sunday Morning Call.

As a boy, Arthur Lanstron had persisted in being an exception to the influences of both heredity and environment. Though his father and both grandfathers were officers who believed there to be the true gentleman's profession, he had preferred any kind of mechanical toy to arranging the most gayly painted tin soldiers in formation on the nursery floor; and he would rather read about the wonders of natural history and electricity than the campaigns of Napoleon and Frederick the Great and my Lord Nelson. Left to his own choice, he would miss the parade of the garrison for inspection by an excellency in order to ask questions of a man wiping the oil off his hands with cotton-waste, who was far more entertaining to him than the most spick-and-ran ramrod of a sergeant.

Upon being told one day that he was to go to the military school the following autumn, he broke out in open rebellion.

"I don't want to go to the army!" he said.

"Why?" asked his father, thinking that when the boy had to give his reasons he would soon be argued out of the heresy.

"It's drilling a few hours a day, then nothing to do," Arthur replied. "All your work waits on war and you don't know that there will ever be any war. It waits on something nobody wants to happen. Now, if you manufacture something, why, you see wool come out cloth, steel come out an automobile. If you build a bridge you see it rising little by little. You're getting your results every day; you see your mistakes and your successes. You're making something, creating something; there's something going on all the while that isn't guesswork. I think that's what I want to say. You won't order me to be a soldier, will you?"

The father, loath to do this, called in the assistance of an able pleader then, Eugene Partow, lately become chief of staff of the Browns, who was an old friend of the Lanstron family. Partow turned the balance on the side of filial affection. He kept watch of the boy, but without favoring him with influence. Young Lanstron, who wanted to see results, had to earn them. He realized in practice the truth of Partow's saying that there was nothing he had ever learned but what could be of service to him as an officer.

"Finding enough work to do?" Partow would ask with a chuckle when they met in these days; for he had made Lanstron both chief of intelligence and chief aerostatic officer. Young Lanstron's duty was the duty of gaining the secrets of the Gray staff and keeping those of the Brown and organizing up-to-the-moment efficiency in the new forces of the air.

He had remarked truly enough that the injury to his left hand served as a better reminder against the folly of wool-gathering than a string, even a large red string, tied around his finger. Thanks to skillful surgery, the fingers, incapable of spreading much, were yet serviceable and had a firm grip of the wheel as he rose from the aeroplane station on the Sunday morning after Marta's return home for a flight to La Tir.

He knew the pattern weaving under his feet as one knows that of his own garden from an overlooking window. Every detail of the staff map, ravines, roads, buildings, battery positions, was stitched together in the flowing reality of actual vision. No white posts were necessary to tell him where the boundary between the two nations lay. The line was drawn in his brain.

Now that Lanstron was the organizer of the aviation corps his own flights were rare. Mostly they were made to La Tir. His visits to Marta were his holidays. All the time that she was absent on her journey around the world they had corresponded. Her letters, so revealing of herself and her peculiar angles of observation, formed a bundle sacredly preserved. Her mother's joking reference about her girlish resolution not to marry a soldier often returned to him. There, he sometimes thought, was the real obstacle to his great desire.

When he alighted from the plane he thrust his left hand into his blouse pocket. He always carried it there, as if it were literally sewn in place. In moments of emotion the scarred nerves would twitch as the telltale of his sensitiveness; and this was something he would conceal from others no matter how conscious he was of it himself. He found the Galland veranda deserted. In response to his ring a maid came to the open door. Her face was sad, with a beauty that had prematurely faded. But it lighted pleasantly in recognition. Her hair was thick and tawny, lying low over the brow; her eyes were a softly luminous brown and her full lips sensitive and yielding. Lanstron, an intimate of the Galland household, knew her story well and the part that Marta had played in it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER V.

A Sunday Morning Call.

As a boy, Arthur Lanstron had persisted in being an exception to the influences of both heredity and environment. Though his father and both grandfathers were officers who believed there to be the true gentleman's profession, he had preferred any kind of mechanical toy to arranging the most gayly painted tin soldiers in formation on the nursery floor; and he would rather read about the wonders of natural history and electricity than the campaigns of Napoleon and Frederick the Great and my Lord Nelson. Left to his own choice, he would miss the parade of the garrison for inspection by an excellency in order to ask questions of a man wiping the oil off his hands with cotton-waste, who was far more entertaining to him than the most spick-and-ran ramrod of a sergeant.

Upon being told one day that he was to go to the military school the following autumn, he broke out in open rebellion.

"I don't want to go to the army!" he said.

"Why?" asked his father, thinking that when the boy had to give his reasons he would soon be argued out of the heresy.

"It's drilling a few hours a day, then nothing to do," Arthur replied. "All your work waits on war and you don't know that there will ever be any war. It waits on something nobody wants to happen. Now, if you manufacture something, why, you see wool come out cloth, steel come out an automobile. If you build a bridge you see it rising little by little. You're getting your results every day; you see your mistakes and your successes. You're making something, creating something; there's something going on all the while that isn't guesswork. I think that's what I want to say. You won't order me to be a soldier, will you?"

The father, loath to do this, called in the assistance of an able pleader then, Eugene Partow, lately become chief of staff of the Browns, who was an old friend of the Lanstron family. Partow turned the balance on the side of filial affection. He kept watch of the boy, but without favoring him with influence. Young Lanstron, who wanted to see results, had to earn them. He realized in practice the truth of Partow's saying that there was nothing he had ever learned but what could be of service to him as an officer.

"Finding enough work to do?" Partow would ask with a chuckle when they met in these days; for he had made Lanstron both chief of intelligence and chief aerostatic officer. Young Lanstron's duty was the duty of gaining the secrets of the Gray staff and keeping those of the Brown and organizing up-to-the-moment efficiency in the new forces of the air.

He had remarked truly enough that the injury to his left hand served as a better reminder against the folly of wool-gathering than a string, even a large red string, tied around his finger. Thanks to skillful surgery, the fingers, incapable of spreading much, were yet serviceable and had a firm grip of the wheel as he rose from the aeroplane station on the Sunday morning after Marta's return home for a flight to La Tir.

He knew the pattern weaving under his feet as one knows that of his own garden from an overlooking window. Every detail of the staff map, ravines, roads, buildings, battery positions, was stitched together in the flowing reality of actual vision. No white posts were necessary to tell him where the boundary between the two nations lay. The line was drawn in his brain.

Now that Lanstron was the organizer of the aviation corps his own flights were rare. Mostly they were made to La Tir. His visits to Marta were his holidays. All the time that she was absent on her journey around the world they had corresponded. Her letters, so revealing of herself and her peculiar angles of observation, formed a bundle sacredly preserved. Her mother's joking reference about her girlish resolution not to marry a soldier often returned to him. There, he sometimes thought, was the real obstacle to his great desire.

When he alighted from the plane he thrust his left hand into his blouse pocket. He always carried it there, as if it were literally sewn in place. In moments of emotion the scarred nerves would twitch as the telltale of his sensitiveness; and this was something he would conceal from others no matter how conscious he was of it himself. He found the Galland veranda deserted. In response to his ring a maid came to the open door. Her face was sad, with a beauty that had prematurely faded. But it lighted pleasantly in recognition. Her hair was thick and tawny, lying low over the brow; her eyes were a softly luminous brown and her full lips sensitive and yielding. Lanstron, an intimate of the Galland household, knew her story well and the part that Marta had played in it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER V.

A Sunday Morning Call.

As a boy, Arthur Lanstron had persisted in being an exception to the influences of both heredity and environment. Though his father and both grandfathers were officers who believed there to be the true gentleman's profession, he had preferred any kind of mechanical toy to arranging the most gayly painted tin soldiers in formation on the nursery floor; and he would rather read about the wonders of natural history and electricity than the campaigns of Napoleon and Frederick the Great and my Lord Nelson. Left to his own choice, he would miss the parade of the garrison for inspection by an excellency in order to ask questions of a man wiping the oil off his hands with cotton-waste, who was far more entertaining to him than the most spick-and-ran ramrod of a sergeant.

Upon being told one day that he was to go to the military school the following autumn, he broke out in open rebellion.

"I don't want to go to the army!" he said.

"Why?" asked his father, thinking that when the boy had to give his reasons he would soon be argued out of the heresy.

"It's drilling a few hours a day, then nothing to do," Arthur replied. "All your work waits on war and you don't know that there will ever be any war. It waits on something nobody wants to happen. Now, if you manufacture something, why, you see wool come out cloth, steel come out an automobile. If you build a bridge you see it rising little by little. You're getting your results every day; you see your mistakes and your successes. You're making something, creating something; there's something going on all the while that isn't guesswork. I think that's what I want to say. You won't order me to be a soldier, will you?"

The father, loath to do this, called in the assistance of an able pleader then, Eugene Partow, lately become chief of staff of the Browns, who was an old friend of the Lanstron family. Partow turned the balance on the side of filial affection. He kept watch of the boy, but without favoring him with influence. Young Lanstron, who wanted to see results, had to earn them. He realized in practice the truth of Partow's saying that there was nothing he had ever learned but what could be of service to him as an officer.

"Finding enough work to do?" Partow would ask with a chuckle when they met in these days; for he had made Lanstron both chief of intelligence and chief aerostatic officer. Young Lanstron's duty was the duty of gaining the secrets of the Gray staff and keeping those of the Brown and organizing up-to-the-moment efficiency in the new forces of the air.

He had remarked truly enough that the injury to his left hand served as a better reminder against the folly of wool-gathering than a string, even a large red string, tied around his finger. Thanks to skillful surgery, the fingers, incapable of spreading much, were yet serviceable and had a firm grip of the wheel as he rose from the aeroplane station on the Sunday morning after Marta's return home for a flight to La Tir.

He knew the pattern weaving under his feet as one knows that of his own garden from an overlooking window. Every detail of the staff map, ravines, roads, buildings, battery positions, was stitched together in the flowing reality of actual vision. No white posts were necessary to tell him where the boundary between the two nations lay. The line was drawn in his brain.

Now that Lanstron was the organizer of the aviation corps his own flights were rare. Mostly they were made to La Tir. His visits to Marta were his holidays. All the time that she was absent on her journey around the world they had corresponded. Her letters, so revealing of herself and her peculiar angles of observation, formed a bundle sacredly preserved. Her mother's joking reference about her girlish resolution not to marry a soldier often returned to him. There, he sometimes thought, was the real obstacle to his great desire.

When he alighted from the plane he thrust his left hand into his blouse pocket. He always carried it there, as if it were literally sewn in place. In moments of emotion the scarred nerves would twitch as the telltale of his sensitiveness; and this was something he would conceal from others no matter how conscious he was of it himself. He found the Galland veranda deserted. In response to his ring a maid came to the open door. Her face was sad, with a beauty that had prematurely faded. But it lighted pleasantly in recognition. Her hair was thick and tawny, lying low over the brow; her eyes were a softly luminous brown and her full lips sensitive and yielding. Lanstron, an intimate of the Galland household, knew her story well and the part that Marta had played in it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER V.

A Sunday Morning Call.

As a boy, Arthur Lanstron had persisted in being an exception to the influences of both heredity and environment. Though his father and both grandfathers were officers who believed there to be the true gentleman's profession, he had preferred any kind of mechanical toy to arranging the most gayly painted tin soldiers in formation on the nursery floor; and he would rather read about the wonders of natural history and electricity than the campaigns of Napoleon and Frederick the Great and my Lord Nelson. Left to his own choice, he would miss the parade of the garrison for inspection by an excellency in order to ask questions of a man wiping the oil off his hands with cotton-waste, who was far more entertaining to him than the most spick-and-ran ramrod of a sergeant.

Upon being told one day that he was to go to the military school the following autumn, he broke out in open rebellion.

"I don't want to go to the army!" he said.

"Why?" asked his father, thinking that when the boy had to give his reasons he would soon be argued out of the heresy.

"It's drilling a few hours a day, then nothing to do," Arthur replied. "All your work waits on war and you don't know that there will ever be any war. It waits on something nobody wants to happen. Now, if you manufacture something, why, you see wool come out cloth, steel come out an automobile. If you build a bridge you see it rising little by little. You're getting your results every day; you see your mistakes and your successes. You're making something, creating something; there's something going on all the while that isn't guesswork. I think that's what I want to say. You won't order me to be a soldier, will you?"

The father, loath to do this, called in the assistance of an able pleader then, Eugene Partow, lately become chief of staff of the Browns, who was an old friend of the Lanstron family. Partow turned the balance on the side of filial affection. He kept watch of the boy, but without favoring him with influence. Young Lanstron, who wanted to see results, had to earn them. He realized in practice the truth of Partow's saying that there was nothing he had ever learned but what could be of service to him as an officer.

"Finding enough work to do?" Partow would ask with a chuckle when they met in these days; for he had made Lanstron both chief of intelligence and chief aerostatic officer. Young Lanstron's duty was the duty of gaining the secrets of the Gray staff and keeping those of the Brown and organizing up-to-the-moment efficiency in the new forces of the air.

He had remarked truly enough that the injury to his left hand served as a better reminder against the folly of wool-gathering than a string, even a large red string, tied around his finger. Thanks to skillful surgery, the fingers, incapable of spreading much, were yet serviceable and had a firm grip of the wheel as he rose from the aeroplane station on the Sunday morning after Marta's return home for a flight to La Tir.

He knew the pattern weaving under his feet as one knows that of his own garden from an overlooking window. Every detail of the staff map, ravines, roads, buildings, battery positions, was stitched together in the flowing reality of actual vision. No white posts were necessary to tell him where the boundary between the two nations lay. The line was drawn in his brain.

Now that Lanstron was the organizer of the aviation corps his own flights were rare. Mostly they were made to La Tir. His visits to Marta were his holidays. All the time that she was absent on her journey around the world they had corresponded. Her letters, so revealing of herself and her peculiar angles of observation, formed a bundle sacredly preserved. Her mother's joking reference about her girlish resolution not to marry a soldier often returned to him. There, he sometimes thought, was the real obstacle to his great desire.

When he alighted from the plane he thrust his left hand into his blouse pocket. He always carried it there, as if it were literally sewn in place. In moments of emotion the scarred nerves would twitch as the telltale of his sensitiveness; and this was something he would conceal from others no matter how conscious he was of it himself. He found the Galland veranda deserted. In response to his ring a maid came to the open door. Her face was sad, with a beauty that had prematurely faded. But it lighted pleasantly in recognition. Her hair was thick and tawny, lying low over the brow; her eyes were a softly luminous brown and her full lips sensitive and yielding. Lanstron, an intimate of the Galland household, knew her story well and the part that Marta had played in it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER V.

A Sunday Morning Call.

As a boy, Arthur Lanstron had persisted in being an exception to the influences of both heredity and environment. Though his father and both grandfathers were officers who believed there to be the true gentleman's profession, he had preferred any kind of mechanical toy to arranging the most gayly painted tin soldiers in formation on the nursery floor; and he would rather read about the wonders of natural history and electricity than the campaigns of Napoleon and Frederick the Great and my Lord Nelson. Left to his own choice, he would miss the parade of the garrison for inspection by an excellency in order to ask questions of a man wiping the oil off his hands with cotton-waste, who was far more entertaining to him than the most spick-and-ran ramrod of a sergeant.

Upon being told one day that he was to go to the military school the following autumn, he broke out in open rebellion.

"I don't want to go to the army!" he said.

"Why?" asked his father, thinking that when the boy had to give his reasons he would soon be argued out of the heresy.

"It's drilling a few hours a day, then nothing to do," Arthur replied. "All your work waits on war and you don't know that there will ever be any war. It waits on something nobody wants to happen. Now, if you manufacture something, why, you see wool come out cloth, steel come out an automobile. If you build a bridge you see it rising little by little. You're getting your results every day; you see your mistakes and your successes. You're making something, creating something; there's something going on all the while that isn't guesswork. I think that's what I want to say. You won't order me to be a soldier, will you?"

The father, loath to do this, called in the assistance of an able pleader then, Eugene Partow, lately become chief of staff of the Browns, who was an old friend of the Lanstron family. Partow turned the balance on the side of filial affection. He kept watch of the boy, but without favoring him with influence. Young Lanstron, who wanted to see results, had to earn them. He realized in practice the truth of Partow's saying that there was nothing he had ever learned but what could be of service to him as an officer.

"Finding enough work to do?" Partow would ask with a chuckle when they met in these days; for he had made Lanstron both chief of intelligence and chief aerostatic officer. Young Lanstron's duty was the duty of gaining the secrets of the Gray staff and keeping those of the Brown and organizing up-to-the-moment efficiency in the new forces of the air.

He had remarked truly enough that the injury to his left hand served as a better reminder against the folly of wool-gathering than a string, even a large red string, tied around his finger. Thanks to skillful surgery, the fingers, incapable of spreading much, were yet serviceable and had a firm grip of the wheel as he rose from the aeroplane station on the Sunday morning after Marta's return home for a flight to La Tir.

He knew the pattern weaving under his feet as one knows that of his own garden from an overlooking window. Every detail of the staff map, ravines, roads, buildings, battery positions, was stitched together in the flowing reality of actual vision. No white posts were necessary to tell him where the boundary between the two nations lay. The line was drawn in his brain.

Now that Lanstron was the organizer of the aviation corps his own flights were rare. Mostly they were made to La Tir. His visits to Marta were his holidays. All the time that she was absent on her journey around the world they had corresponded. Her letters, so revealing of herself and her peculiar angles of observation, formed a bundle sacredly preserved. Her mother's joking reference about her girlish resolution not to marry a soldier often returned to him. There, he sometimes thought, was the real obstacle to his great desire.

When he alighted from the plane he thrust his left hand into his blouse pocket. He always carried it there, as if it were literally sewn in place. In moments of emotion the scarred nerves would twitch as the telltale of his sensitiveness; and this was something he would conceal from others no matter how conscious he was of it himself. He found the Galland veranda deserted. In response to his ring a maid came to the open door. Her face was sad, with a beauty that had prematurely faded. But it lighted pleasantly in recognition. Her hair was thick and tawny, lying low over the brow; her eyes were a softly luminous brown and her full lips sensitive and yielding. Lanstron, an intimate of the Galland household, knew her story well and the part that Marta had played in it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER V.

A Sunday Morning Call.

The Bible— What It Is

By REV WILLIAM EVANS, D.D.
Director of Bible Course
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Pleasant Fields of Holy Writ

Motto for the week:
For Scripture style is noble and divine.
It speaks no less than God in every line.
It is not built on disquisition vain.
The things we must believe are few and plain.
—John Dryden, 1631-1700.

THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON. Third Quarter. Lesson XII. Matthew 25: 31-46. Sept. 20, 1914. THE JUDGMENT OF THE NATIONS (THE STORY)

When Michael Angelo would picture the Judgment he too the whole end of the Sistine Chapel and peopled it with a great throng, in which the contrasts of bliss and misery appear. It is an acknowledged masterpiece. Its horrors are still ardent in spite of candle-smoke and centuries. To most, however, it is disappointing. It is haunting, unnatural, and grandiose. As Hawthorne turned away from it he called it a "sprawl of nakedness."

Jesus' description presents a marked contrast to the Vatican fresco. He discards scenic effects, and treats this incomparable event with marked simplicity. What could be more artless than his description of himself under the familiar figure of a shepherd?

His "division" is the key to the whole judgment scene as Jesus describes it. The shepherd separates one kind from another—sheep from goats. So, in the great assize, the living shall part the good from the bad. But the time in the history of the world a complete and irrevocable separation will be made, as preshadowed in his parables: wheat from tares, good fish from bad, wish virgins from foolish, profitable servants from unprofitable.

Character is the crux of the judgment. The sheep stands for innocence, gentleness, teachableness; the goat for ill-considered passion. And deeds are the vocabulary of character. No complete inventory of good results, however, is here attempted. Only a few are given by way of example. And these are named, not as in themselves, but as the evidences of a title. They are the natural expression of the hidden principle of life. The alms-giver, the merciful, the righteous, the wicked give a thoroughly natural and human coloring to this otherwise dread scene. The King shows completely he has identified himself with his loyal subjects when he suffers deeds of kindness done to or withheld from them, as done to or withheld from himself. The protestation on the part of the righteous of the inadequacy of their desert, such as in the case of the merciful, offsets in a natural way the disclaimer on the part of the wicked of all knowledge that their ungenerosity towards Christians was ungenerosity towards Christ. Though simplicity characterizes this description, there are not wanting touches of sublimity. For example: "Son is a man in his glory," "the throne of his glory," "all nations," "finally nothing can surpass the unaffected dignity of the King's address alternately to the righteous and the wicked."

THE TEACHERS' LANTERN.
There is reasonable ground for belief in a general judgment. The justice of God's dealings is not manifest in the present course of events. The lots of the righteous and the wicked are unequal. The former are unworried, the latter unpunished. A "fearful looking for of judgment" dwells in human consciousness.

Scriptural proof of the judgment is abundant. Enoch, Daniel, Paul, Peter, Jude, John and Jesus all affirm it in tones too literal to be set aside as poetical or parabolic.

The Scriptural order is: the second appearing of Jesus the ruler of the world, the coming of the Son of Man. The "Son of Man" is the judge of man. He is seated upon a white throne, emblem of his immaculate character. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

There are only two records of the application of the title "Son of Man" to Jesus by human lips. "Daniel" in the Old Testament, and "Stephen" in the New. It is as if by the very frequency we are taught reverence. In marked contrast to this, fifty times in the Gospels, Jesus calls himself "Son of Man." It is by the very frequency of its use he would emphasize his true human nature.

Just as Jesus' human nature fits him to be High Priest, so that same nature fits him to be judge of the human race. As both priest and judge he is touched with a feeling of human infirmities. The intermingling of good and evil for a thousand years in the history of ancient Israel, before the final judgment of the nation in the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing forever of the Hebrew nationality, is a signal witness to the forbearance of God. He prolonged the probation and postponed the judgment. He has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. His hands are still outstretched. No individual or collection of individuals, in race or national or ecclesiastical organization is ever given up until unsalvability is demonstrated.

Good and evil are intermingled, so that the evil shall have the full weight and advantage of the example. As now mercy is the dominant attribute of the Divine nature, justice will be then. The "opening of the books" may be a figure of the collating of human memory in the omniscience. The decisions are final. There is no higher court to which an appeal can be taken. A reversal of the decree of omniscient justice is unthinkable. Conscious forgiveness through the atonement is the only adequate preparation for the ordeal.

Palace of Destiny" is the suggestive story of a man who was a fairly good man as he goes, in a series of perfect worlds, in which he is pictured as living in succession. But when at length he comes to a perfectly good world, from which all evil has been excluded, he fails to be surprised at all, into a course of gross sin. The secret of it was that, on the one hand, he lacked that warning which the conduct of the wicked affords, while on the other hand he lacked that field of moral endeavor which the presence of evil affords. Eden was the worst possible place for Adam after he had sinned. His expulsion partook of the nature of a mercy as well as a penalty. Those who deplore the decline in church attendance, and respect for Sabbath and sacraments, should find some relief in the intelligent effort now making for human physical comfort and safety, for relief of mental strain incident to economic conditions now maintaining. These scientific propaganda find expression in the most familiar terms of the day, such as, "living wage," "housing and sanitation," "child labor," "employer's liability," "white slavery," "prison reform," "old age pension," and "juvenile court." In the very terms of his address to both the saved and the unsaved, Jesus indicates that these matters partake of the very substance of religion and that saving faith expresses itself in just such deeds as these terms imply. On this basis of Optimism may well affirm that never in the history of the race was there so much religion in the world as there is today.

ANALYSIS AND KEY.
Last Judgment: Angelo's Fresco.
Jesus' Description: Contrast.
Former: Flaunting, Unnatural, Grandiose.
Latter: Dignified, Scenic Effects, Simple: Attest.

Not lacking sublimity.
"Division": The Key.
Final Separation.
Character: Crucial.
Deeds as Vocabulary and Character.
Jesus' Complete Identification with his Own.

Deeds Done to Them Done to Self.
The Young People's Devotional Service.

Sept. 20, 1914. Hebrews 13:16-21.
SHARE YOUR BLESSINGS.
"But to do good and communicate forget not; for which such sacrifices God is well pleased to accept. To be perfect in every good work" is ideal and splendid. This consummation of character is not to be forgotten, but kept steadily before the mind. This is the function to share one's blessings is the particularly bright jewel in a fragment of some old liturgy which the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews thought worthy of incorporation in the climax of his inspired letter. "Now the God of Peace makes you perfect. . . . in every good work!"

MILTON.
Messrs W. C. Whitford and B. H. Wells made an auto trip to the state fair Thursday.

Mrs. J. R. Howard is ill.
Mrs. F. H. Gifford is improving from her late illness.

Mrs. R. Miller is visiting in northern Wisconsin.
Mrs. W. H. Place of Chicago is visiting her parents, Prof. A. R. Crandall and wife.

Miss Ida Sexton of Dodge Center, Minn., and Mrs. Thomas of Beloit are visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Reed.

Dr. Leonard Crosby of Denver, Colo., is visiting his brother, A. G. Crosby, this week.

Last band concert of the season Saturday night.
H. C. Todd is clerking for N. W. Crosby.

Mrs. M. E. Lamphere has gone to Menomonie to visit her sister, Mrs. L. D. Harvey.

P. B. Kelly has returned from his visit at Battle Creek, Mich.

AMUSEMENTS.
AT MYERS THEATRE.

Today marks the opening of the vaudeville season at Myers theatre. Three feature acts have been scheduled. These acts have been booked through the Western Vaudeville Managers' association and are the cream of their popular and popular attractions.

Tonight Frances Le Maire will appear in a roller skating and bicycle novelty act. Benson & Knight are billed as novelty entertainers. Carroll, Keating and Fay will be seen in their comedy singing and talking skit entitled "At Crow's Nest Inn." These acts will be presented Saturday and Sunday also, with matinee daily.

"THE TREY O' HEARTS."
Tonight will be shown the fourth episode in the great mystery-drama, "The Trey O' Hearts," entitled "The Rocking." The interest the followers of this picture display grows with each installment. It is impossible to guess the situations ahead of the picture and curiosity is kept keened up to an abnormal pitch. $200,000 was the initial cost to produce this picture that the tremendous expense involved was wisely expended may be judged from the beautiful photography, thrilling scenes and rapid action that mark the entire picture. The story in printed form appears serially in the Gazette each Saturday evening.

AT THE APOLLO.
Three very good acts are on the program at the Apollo for the last of the week. Bingham and Gable present a musical act in which nearly every note of an instrument is played. Mr. Bingham plays a cornet duet with two cornets at the same time, a feat which has been deemed impossible. The Todd-Nards are two very clever gymnasts with some excellent stunts. Pryor and Addison present a medley of singing, dancing and bright comedy.

"The Brute."
On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

On Monday the famous Players company present "The Brute," a famous drama of a strong man's triumph over a woman's pride. "The Brute," Daniel Frohman has one of his most popular productions in this city.

HERE'S WHAT GERMAN AERIAL BOMB THROWERS DID TO PARIS

(c) Underwood & Underwood.
This photograph shows damage done in Paris by bombs dropped from German aeroplanes. The casualties were not so numerous as in Antwerp.

AFTER THE BATTLE OF DIEST: A SCENE OF CARNAGE

(c) Underwood & Underwood.
A scene of carnage showing a shattered artillery carriage and dead horses in front of a farm house, after the battle of Diest, Belgium.

HERE'S HOW BRITISH MOVE THEIR ARMY SUPPLIES IN FRANCE

The success of the British forces in France has been materially increased by the fact that their commissary division is thoroughly equipped with powerful auto trucks which as transportation factors are unexcelled. The rapidity with which an army and its supplies can be moved is attested by the way the British forces were assembled.

Evansville News

Evansville, Sept. 18.—Mrs. Wales of Edgerton, is expected here tomorrow to be the guest of Mrs. Emma Van Patten and other friends.

Prof. Waddell is spending a few days with his people at Saxtonville. Miss Irene Libby gave a pleasant surprise party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Milligan. About a dozen young people were present. The evening was spent in playing the piano and singing.

Mrs. D. E. Salisbury returned to Oregon today after a few days' visit with her daughter, Mrs. F. P. Hansen. F. S. Frost has been on a business trip to the northern part of the state this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker and daughter Beth, motored to Madison today. The Fred Fellows family went to Madison yesterday to visit the state fair.

Miss Daisy Baldwin of Brooklyn is a guest of Mrs. Joe Williams. Mrs. Harry Curless is quite ill with pneumonia poisoning.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curless were in Oregon Sunday visiting Mrs. P. Christianson.

Ivan Fay was in Milwaukee yesterday to visit the state fair.

A good attendance of ladies were present at the bank offering meeting of the missionary societies of the Congregational church, held yesterday afternoon. A very interesting program was given, the exercise by five young girls in costume representing foreign lands being particularly enjoyable. A delicious supper was served at the close of the program. The sum of $43 was the result of the offering taken.

While on work near the creamery Wednesday George Gray had the misfortune to be hit in the eye with a nail. Medical attention was at once secured and although the injury is a very painful one it is hoped the eye can be saved.

Irving Wallace has been in Milwaukee attending the state fair this week. The Pearson and Ballard families motored to Milwaukee yesterday.

Although the work on the school buildings is not quite completed, both the high school and grades will open on Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Colony drove to Madison yesterday to see Mrs. Pratt. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Haynes of Oregon were in the city Tuesday visiting Mrs. Leo Jackson.

Ed. Ruffy was at Cooksville Wednesday on business.

The Dowle family, who have been living on Mills street, have moved from town.

Miss Marjorie Wilder left for Madison yesterday, where she will attend the university.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stebbins of Madison were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leedle Denison Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winston and Dorothy Axtell went to Johnston yesterday to visit Mrs. Winston's parents. They will return Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Krause entertained Mrs. Krause's parents from Beloit the first of the week.

H. E. Loomis and family and Mrs. Athrop motored to Madison Tuesday.

John Krause and family have moved into the Biggs flat.

Dr. and Mrs. Elson of Janesville visited friends here yesterday.

Mrs. Maggie Stanford returned Wednesday night from Beloit, where she visited her sister, Mrs. E. McColl.

Miss Kathleen Calkins has gone to Madison, where she has a position as teacher in the home-economics department of the university.

Free Methodist Church. Sunday services: Sunday school 9:30 a. m., Preaching 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., District Elder G. W. Endicott being in charge. Young people's service 7 p. m. Midweek prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Congregational Church. Many Evansville people will be pleased to know that Brigadier Mrs. Mary Stillwell of the Salvation Army, who lectured here about two years ago, is to return. She will speak at 10:30 Sunday morning on "Apostolic Christianity." In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a meeting for men. In the evening at 7:30 Mrs. Stillwell will tell of the rescue work of the army. Every person in Evansville and vicinity should hear this gifted speaker and self-sacrificing woman.

Brotherhood Church. Evening service 7:30. Services at Union and Magnolia Sunday afternoon at 2:30. You are welcome.

At the annual conference of the Free Methodist church, held at Richmond Center last week, Rev. A. J. The mon was appointed pastor of the Evansville church. Rev. G. W. Endicott was re-elected district elder and has charge of the Evansville, Beaver Dam and Waterville districts. Rev. E. J. Roberts was elected district elder and has supervision of the Richmond and northern districts.

ago, is to return. She will speak at 10:30 Sunday morning on "Apostolic Christianity." In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a meeting for men. In the evening at 7:30 Mrs. Stillwell will tell of the rescue work of the army. Every person in Evansville and vicinity should hear this gifted speaker and self-sacrificing woman.

Brotherhood Church. Evening service 7:30. Services at Union and Magnolia Sunday afternoon at 2:30. You are welcome.

At the annual conference of the Free Methodist church, held at Richmond Center last week, Rev. A. J. The mon was appointed pastor of the Evansville church. Rev. G. W. Endicott was re-elected district elder and has charge of the Evansville, Beaver Dam and Waterville districts. Rev. E. J. Roberts was elected district elder and has supervision of the Richmond and northern districts.

Discretion.
There is no talent so useful towards rising in the world, or which puts men more out of the reach of fortune, than that quality generally possessed by the duldest sort of men, and in common speech called discretion; a species of lower prudence, by the assistance of which people of the meanest intellects, without any other qualification, pass through the world in great tranquillity, and with universal good treatment, never giving nor taking offense.—Swift.

War Atlas—Cut the coupon from today's paper and bring it into the Gazette office with 17c, or by mail 19c.

There are persons whose earning capacity is no greater than their daily needs; but we are sure there are very few in this prosperous community who cannot save something from their earnings.

Your Money Is Worth 4% At This Bank.

THE BANK OF EVANSVILLE
Evansville, Wis.
Founded 1870.
GEO. L. PULLEN, Pres.

LEGAL NOTICES
NOTICE TO LAY SIDEWALK.

To the owner of lot 2 in block 6, Pleasant View addition to the City of Janesville, Rock County, Wisconsin: You are hereby notified to build a sidewalk in front of your said lot, and upon north side of Ravine street, forthwith, and if you fail

THE RAINS DESCENDED

By BREVARD MAYB CONNOR.

"Oh, if it would only rain," she had said wearily.

Little enough to take offense at if we weigh the words one by one, and consider their simple import, but she had said it more than once that day, and the reiteration had told on the man's nerves, already strained to the breaking point by weeks of enervating dry heat.

He had looked across the table with a look in his eyes here could not bear.

"Will—you—shut—up!"

She had sat stunned for a moment, and then, choking down a dry sob, said:

"I'm sorry, Dick. You've been so worried. It's been terrible—this year."

His face did not soften, and he laughed harshly.

"Yes, this year and last, and the year before that, and all the rest of the years to come probably." He stood up abruptly. "I'm going to town."

She noticed the slight stoop of the boyish shoulders and the listless drag of his feet, and then she turned and looked out across the baking fields, where the crowding rows of gray-green corn drooped as if the heat were heavy and bearing them down.

The child that lay on the bed tossed and wailed fretfully. After she had soothed it back into an uneasy slumber, she commenced to clear the table, working swiftly to ease the constriction in her breast.

When her fingers touched the finely-chiseled edges of the cut-glass sugar-bowl that stood so inconspicuously amid their homely ware, she paused and whispered aloud the thought that this bare touch had awakened.

"He travels the fastest who travels alone."

His mother had said it—the same who had given them the sugar-bowl—said it in her presence when she and Dick had gone to tell her their resolve, that they were going to be married.

Placing the ironing-board across the backs of two chairs, she lifted the iron from the stove and tested it with a moistened finger. The light breeze that stirred the curtains felt cool on her damp brow, but she did not look up to see the green haze.

Neither did she note the far-off hum, like the hum of bees when they gather at the home hive at nightfall—a hum that grew louder, and swelled in volume till it sounded like the rumble of a thousand busy looms—louder, louder.

An eerie note sang through it; louder and higher, and louder and higher like the increasing roar of advancing war.

The shrieks of the child seemed feeble and impotent in the face of the roar, as she seized it up and plunged head down into the swirling dust outside.

For a moment she was but a plaything of the storm that whirled her skirts above her head and blinded her. She was hurled along until she stumbled and fell to her knees on a mound of earth, which with a heart-leap of joy she recognized as the storm-house.

Then the door yielded, crashed down over their heads, and from pandemonium she stepped into peace.

Long she sat with wide-stretched eyes staring into the darkness of their refuge, until things began to take on a dim, ghostly shape, and even the dirt wall opposite came into view.

The mutter was dying lower and lower, and the whine was stilled, when suddenly there came a clear, sharp tap on the tin door of their refuge. She caught her breath and strained to hear. Yes, there was another, and two, three, four, until it sounded like the preliminary rattle and then the full rolling of a drum.

The woman breathed in deeply, audibly, and then she screamed:

"Baby!—the rain!—the rain!"

Swiftly she rushed up the four steps and pushed back the trap-door, half sobbing, half laughing crazily. She lifted her arms and let the water stream down her upturned face, as if she were drinking it in along with the thirsty earth.

It was salvation to her life that had been so near ruin that very day, for it was salvation to the corn wherein lay their hopes, and with a glad heart she turned to watch the torrents pouring on their fields.

It crept into her face, into her eyes, until she could no longer bear to look, and turned. There lay the house in a ludicrous mass, one beam erect, like a man lying on his side, his foot in the air.

She did not hear the mad splashing of a horse down the road, where her husband, bareheaded, came galloping wildly through the rain, a terrible fear in his eyes.

He did not notice the fields, nor even the house, but when he saw her standing there disconsolate, his eyes lighted up with a great joy, and the look of terror fled. Swiftly he came up to her.

"Dick!" she cried. "Oh, Dick, look at the corn!" but he opened his arms and stilled her against his breast.

"The corn? What do I care for the corn?" And he kissed her again and again.

Town Bars Women.

The Asiatic town of Maiwatch, on the borders of Russia, is peopled by men only. Women are forbidden entrance there.

War Atlas—Cut the coupon from today's paper and bring it into the Gazette office with 17c, or by mail 19c.

SLOW MARKETS AND RECEIPTS DECLINE

Hogs and Sheep Show Falling Off in Number and Day's Price Falls

Below Average.
(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Cattle receipts on the market here were decidedly weak today, only 2,500 entries having been made. The hog market was

SMART WINTER SUIT

Distinctively smart is this suit of black and white checked wool. Coat fastens with steel buttons at front. Note the graceful lines of the newly draped skirt.

slow with a five cent decline under yesterday's average. Sheep were also slow with prices paid from ten to fifteen cents below yesterday's average.

Cattle—Receipts 2,500; market weak; beefs 6.90@11.00; Texas steers 6.35@9.25; stockers and feeders 5.50@8.35; cows and heifers 3.70@9.30; calves 5.50@12.25.

Hogs—Receipts 12,000; market slow; 5c under yesterday's average; light 8.85@9.45; mixed 8.35@9.95; heavy 8.10@9.25; rough 8.10@8.25; pigs 5.00@9.00; bulk of sales 8.45@9.05.

Sheep—Receipts 17,000; market slow; 10c@15c under yesterday's average; native 6.30@6.00; yearlings 6.20@7.15; lambs, native 7.25@8.50.

Butter—Lower; receipts 8,857 tubs; creameries 24@30.

Eggs—Lower; receipts 5,757 cases; cases at mark; cases included 20@22; ordinary firsts 21@21½; prime firsts 22@22½.

Potatoes—Lower; receipts 25 cars; Jerseys 85@90; Mich. 75@75; Wis. 75@80; Minn. 75@78.

Poultry—Alive: Lower; turkeys 14½; springs 14½.

JANESVILLE RETAIL MARKET.

Straw, Corn Oats, Straw, $5.00@ $7.00; baled hay, $10@12; loose, small demand; new oats, 35c@40c; barley, $1.00@1.30 per 100 lbs.; ear corn, $20.

Poultry: Dressed hens, 14c; dressed young springers, 22c; geese, live, 11c; dressed, 14c; turkeys, dressed, 20c; alive, 16c@17c; ducks, 11c@12c.

Cows—5c@9c.

Steers—5c@9c.

Bulls—4c@6c.

Sheep—4c@5c.

Lambs—5c@6c.

Hogs—$7.50@8.25, heavy; choice light, $8.50@8.75.

Pigs—4c@8c.

Vegetables—Potatoes, new, 25c peck; new cabbage, 5c head; carrots, 2c lb; beets 5c bunch; Spanish onions, 8c lb; peppers, best quality, 2 for 5c; green peppers, 3 for 5c; French muskmelons, 5c@10c; sweet potatoes, 4c@5c pound; cauliflower, 15c watermelons, 20c each; sweet seedless grapes, 20c lb; Malaga grapes, 10c lb.

Butter—Dairy, 33c; creamery, 26c.

Eggs—Fresh, per doz, 26c.

Feed: (Retail) Oat meal, $1.80 per 100 lbs.; bran, $1.30; standard middlings, $1.35; flour middlings, $1.40 @1.50.

Pure Lard: 15c@16c lb; lard compound, 15c lb.

Nuts—English walnuts, 22 cents walnut meats, 80 cents pound; black walnuts, 5 cents lb.; hickory nuts, 5c @6c lb; Brazil nuts, 22c@25c lb; pecans, 10c@15c lb; almonds, 25c lb; filberts, 15c@25c lb.

Home.

This is the true nature of home—it is the place of peace; the shelter not only from all injury, but from all terror, doubt and division.—Ruskin.

Read Gazette Want Ads every day. Do not wait for somebody to tell you that he saw an ad in the Gazette which he thought might interest you.

COMMON LAW MARRIAGES FREQUENT IN DANE COUNTY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—The seventh common law marriage contract to be signed by Dane county couples this year was filed with the register of deeds here by John H. Younger and Clara A. Younger of this city. The contracting parties declare that "there being no legal reasons why we should not become husband and wife, do declare and publish that we are from henceforth on husband and wife and will hold toward each other the relation of husband and wife with all the responsibilities and duties which the law allows to such relation."

No health examination nor marriage license is required for common law marriage proceedings, and the only charge is a filing fee of ten cents.

Want Ads. If you read them regularly you will profit by the bargains there offered.

PRIMARY CANDIDATE MUST FILE FINAL STATEMENTS

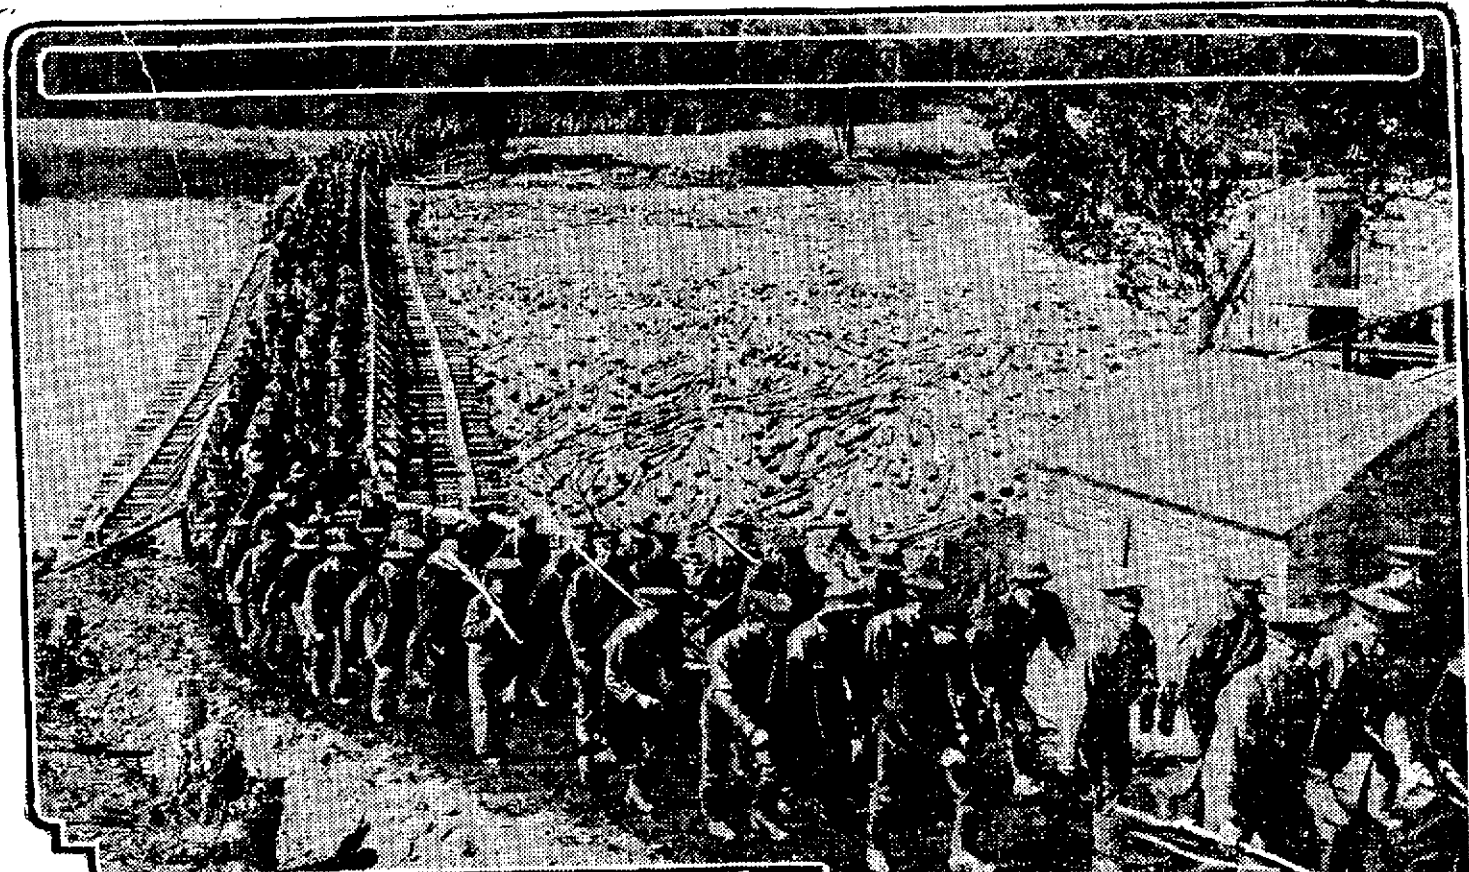

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—The obligation of unsuccessful primary candidates to file expense accounts with the secretary of state does not end until their final statement is filed. While the law does not require them to make final statements until thirty days after the primary election, defeated candidates may make them at any time. The department is inclined to hold that they must file every two weeks, even though they have not paid a cent, until they render their final statement. A number of candidates are still delinquent in this respect.

Busy men who want help, want to buy or sell anything, or want to lease or secure a lease, can fill their wants quickly by telling them by telephone to the Gazette Want Ad Dept.

CANADA EXPECTS HER SONS TO DO GREAT THINGS ON EUROPEAN BATTLEFIELDS

Canadian infantrymen in mobilization camp at Valcartier passing over pontoon bridge on way to the front.

Canada expects much from her 30,000 volunteers who will soon be fighting on European battlefields. If they do as well as other Canadians have done in warfare in the past, the Dominion need not be ashamed. Canadian regiments won fame throughout the British empire and beyond in the Boer war; Canadian voyageurs manned the boats which bore Wolseley up the Nile to the attempted relief of Khartoum, and Canadian troops have fought well in almost every other war in which England has been engaged since the War of 1812.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

Here Are the Fashionable New Fall Clothes That the Best Dressed Men and Young Men Will Wear

Men and young men who are particular enough to want the very best to be had in clothing at the lowest price consistent with good merchandise, naturally will turn to the Golden Eagle for fulfillment of their desires. Past experience has taught them that this is their store. They will come with confidence because they know they will get their money's worth. They know they will get real value whether they invest $10 or $30 or any price between.

Complete Fall and Winter Stocks Are Ready Now. Suits and Overcoats of the Best Makers, Very Moderately Priced, at

$15, $18 and $20

We Direct Particular Attention To Our Complete New Fall Assortment of SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES, Sold Here In Janesville Exclusively By Us.

These world famous clothes are made for men and young men who can be satisfied only with best—who seek individuality in dress, as much as the smart tailor gives and about half the cost. Every size, Junior or Senior, extreme or conservative and plenty choice styles, each

$20, $22, $27.50, $30

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES that are bound to please you from every standpoint.

School Clothing For the Boys

No matter what your price you will find it here and that price is a safe, for Golden Eagle clothes carry a guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded. We show every known fabric in every fashionable new coloring, the smartest Grays, Browns and neat Tartan plaids predominate and plenty of Blue Serge; prices range from..... $2.95 to $13.85 BOYS' FURNISHINGS. Complete showing, Waists, Blouses, Sweaters, Shirts, Underwear, Hosiery and Neckwear.

Men's and Young Men's Stylish Fall Hats.

The man who wants the very latest and the man of quiet, more dignified tastes, both can find Golden Eagle Hats just the style each one fancies.

IMPERIAL SOFT HATS—Remarkable variety of styles and colors; all the new trimming combination; extreme or conservative shapes; contrast band or bands to match..... $3.00

MEN'S NEW FALL SHOES

Snappy New Fall Styles in all leathers..... $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00 Popular this season, a shoe with Rubber Soles and Heels, at..... $4.50 A typical Young Man's Shoe; easy, graceful and springy, in both tan and black, stitched tip, blind eyelets. Boys' Solid Oak Soled School Shoes, all sizes, priced..... $1.50 to $3.50

Society Brand Clothes

JOHN B. STETSON HATS, all the new shapes and colors..... $3.50, $4.00, $5.00 BIG SHOWING OF NEW SOFT HATS—All the new combinations in soft hats, large variety than ever before..... $2.00 MEN'S FASHIONABLE SHIRTS, attractive display here Saturday. New Black and White Neckwear—The latest craze in Scarfs..... 50c

Women's Boots---New Fall Styles

High grade shoes of extra fine quality, Patent, Dull Calf, Dull Kid, plain or tipped, narrow receding toes or high toes; cut on new straight lines, cloth or kid tops; Cuban, Kidney or Cuban heels..... $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00

During the Entire Month of September These Low Prices Prevail.

F. J. BAILEY & SON

ON THE BRIDGE

Every Article In Our Stock
Is Cut In Price From
10% to 30%

Unusual Price Cutting Sale Continues Through September

THE LAST NINE DAYS IN SEPTEMBER AFFORD YOU THE MOST interesting Dry Goods Bargains. Many lines will be offered at 50c on the dollar and every article in our great stock will be cut from 10% to 30%. It is no small offer and you who best understand dry goods values will best appreciate the great reductions made. These last nine days of September will be marked by most extraordinary cut prices.

Read and Profit. Make Your Purchases Now and Save Money.

DOMESTICS

10 YARDS FRUIT OF THE LOOM FOR	90c
10 YARDS LONSDALE, FOR	90c
18 YARDS 12½c GINGHAM, FOR	90c
18 YARDS 12½c PERCALE, FOR	90c
LONSDALE CAMBRIC, YARD	11c
PEPPERELL, 9-4 BROWN, YARD	25c
PEQUOT, 9-4, BROWN, YARD	28½c
PEPPERELL 9-4 BLEACHED, YARD	28c
PEQUOT, 9-4, BLEACHED, YARD	31c
ALL MADE SHEETS AND CASES REDUCED IN PROPORTION.

Early Winter Merchandise

10c OUTING FLANNEL, YARD	9c
10c BABY FLANNELS, YARD	9c
12½c DOMET FLANNELS, YARD	11c
15c DOMET FLANNELS, YARD	13c
25c WOOL BABY FLANNELS, YARD	22c
35c WOOL BABY FLANNELS, YARD	31c
50c WOOL BABY FLANNELS, YARD	43c
75c WOOL BABY FLANNELS, YARD	67c
$1.00 SILK AND WOOL FLANNELS, YARD	87c

Special offers at less than 50c on the dollar

100 LINGERIE WAISTS, 75c AND $1.00 VALUES, AT	29c
50 MIDDY WAISTS, $1.00 AND $1.25 VALUES, AT	29c
50 TAILORED WAISTS, $1.00 AND $1.50 VALUES, AT	29c
50 MEN'S UNLAUNDERED SHIRTS, 50c VALUES, AT	29c
50 HAND BAGS, $1.00 AND $1.25 VALUES, AT	29c
15 LADIES' JACKETS, AT	50c
15 LADIES' JACKETS, AT	$1.00
1 LOT LADIES' 50c HOSE,	19c

CARPETS AND RUGS

WE ARE CLOSING OUT OUR RUG AND CARPET STOCK AT EXACTLY WHOLESALE PRICES. FOR 30 DAYS YOU CAN TAKE YOUR PICK AND THEN THE BALANCE WILL BE REMOVED TO OUR BELOIT STORE AND OUR CARPET ROOM WILL BE CLOSED. OVER 400 RUGS LARGE AND SMALL GOING AT EXACTLY COST.

SILKS

ALL $2.00 COLORED CREPE METEOR, AT	$1.35
ALL $1.50 COLORED CHARMEUSE, AT	.90
ALL $1.50 MESSALINE, AT	.87
ALL $1.00 TAFFETA, AT	.87
ALL $1.25 TAFFETA, AT	$1.08
ALL $1.50 TAFFETA, AT	$1.33
ALL SKINNER $1.50 SATIN AT	$1.33
ALL BELDING $1.00 SATIN AT	.87c
ALL SILKS AT CUT PRICES.

LINOLEUMS

OUR STOCK OF LINOLEUM CONSISTS OF ALL THE LEADING MAKES, BOTH PRINTED AND INLAID. BLAKUN, SLOANES GERMANIA, PRINTED, INLAID AND BATTLESHIP.

ALL 50c LINOLEUMS GO AT	43c
ALL 60c LINOLEUMS GO AT	48c
ALL $1.00 LINOLEUMS GO AT	87c
ALL $1.25 LINOLEUMS GO AT	$1.08
ALL $1.50 LINOLEUMS GO AT	$1.20
IT IS AN OPPORTUNITY FOR YOU.

DRESS GOODS

WE ARE SHOWING STRONG LINES OF STAPLE DRESS GOODS AND YOU CAN BUY THEM AS FOLLOWS:

ALL 25c DRESS GOODS,	22c
ALL 50c DRESS GOODS,	43c
ALL 75c DRESS GOODS,	67c
ALL 85c DRESS GOODS	77c
ALL $1.00 DRESS GOODS,	87c
ALL $1.25 DRESS GOODS,	$1.08
ALL $1.50 DRESS GOODS,	$1.33

ALL LINES CUT IN PRICE

EVERY ARTICLE IN OUR STOCK GOES INTO THIS SALE. YOU CAN BUY GLOVES AT CUT PRICES. LINENS AT CUT PRICES. UMBRELLAS AT CUT PRICES. TOWELS AT CUT PRICES. HOSIERY AT CUT PRICES. NAPKINS AT CUT PRICES. WHITE GOODS AT CUT PRICES. CORSETS AT CUT PRICES. VELVETS AT CUT PRICES. UNDERWEAR AT CUT PRICES. LININGS AT CUT PRICES.

We are doing the business and price is the magnet. We are making the prices. You can just as well save from 10 to 50% on anything you want in the Dry Goods line during these last days in September.

On the Bridge F. J. BAILEY & SON On the Bridge